Record Crowd Participates In Annual Chamber Meeting

Approximately 300 persons packed the 4-H and Grange Building for Thursday night's annual meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The resounding turnout was labeled a record gathering for the yearly event. Both outgoing Chamber president Jack Clifton and new prexy

Earl Palm termed the participant response gratifying.

Taking part were local business, industry and civic leaders and their wives and special guests. All were treated to a summary of what the Chamber accomplished in 1965 and what it hopes to do in 1966.

Star of the show was Gayle Gupton, commonly known as the "Andy Griffith of the banking profession." His thought-provoking address, presented with superlative humor, dwelled on having the "Right Attitude in Business."

THE BUSINESS portion of the program included secretary and financial reports by Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber manager. She offered a rundown on the many activities pursued by committees during the year.

Another highlight was presentation of a plaque to outgoing president Clifton on behalf of his dedicated efforts during 1965. Special recognition was directed his way for an accelerated program that saw Chamber membership pass the 200 mark for the year.

Clifton reviewed this community's tremendous industrial potential and pointed with pride to the numerous expansions undertaken throughout the year by manufacturing firms already located here. He also presented Mrs. Bennett with a gift in tribute of her faithful Chamber service.

Palm, after accepting the Chamber gavel from Clifton, accented the great progress and development potential owned by Circleville and Pickaway County. He said the Chamber's objective in 1966 will be to assure this continued growth.

The new president pointed out that this continuing effort will be made possible by the Chamber's "Program of Action" for 1966, the enthusiasm expressed by a hard-working board of directors and the constructive ability of the organization's numerous committees.

NEW MARINE DIVISION — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara (left) and Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, travel to Capitol Hill with a request for $12.7 billion in extra funds for the Viet Nam war. McNamara told Senate subcommittees about creation of a new Marine division to meet the possibility of heavier fighting in Viet Nam.

Pentagon Holds Off Callup Of U.S. Reserves, Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's blueprint for strengthening the armed forces contains two strong indications that it intends to avoid calling Reservists or National Guardsmen to active duty.

One is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement to Congress that more support-type units must be provided for the regular Army, "inasmuch as it appears desirable to be in a position to deploy additional forces without calling up Reservists."

The other indication lies in the decision to create a new 18,000-man division for the regular Marine Corps.

Last summer, when the administration decided to commit large-scale U.S. ground forces to the Viet Nam war, it was determined that there was time to build up over — all American armed strength over the long haul, relying on higher draft quotas and voluntary enlistments.

Since then the continuing escalation of the U.S. troop commitment in Viet Nam — and prospects that that commitment may reach Korean War proportions — have caused speculation that the Pentagon will have to turn to the National Guard and Reserves.

But the shape of plans for the newest boost in armed manpower by another 113,000 men suggests that the no-callup policy still holds.

Sources said this could be changed, if there was a sudden deterioration in the situation in Viet Nam requiring a swift infusion of major reinforcements.

The 45,599 men to be added to the Army under the new request mainly would be assigned to types of units which the regular forces have lacked and which the Army Reserve forces had been designed to provide in emergencies.

These units, about 140 different kinds, include such outfits as dump truck companies, postal units, well-drilling organizations, military police platoons, maintenance, bridge construction and petroleum elements.

As for the Marines, the decision to organize a new regular division evidently means that the 48,000-man Marine Reserve division and air wing will be retained in civilian life.

With two of its three regular divisions committed in Viet Nam and the Pacific, the corps has been left with a single regular division in the United States, reducing the flexibility of the Marines and the availability of major fighting elements for crises elsewhere.

Boy's Mother Said Not His Best Friend

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Would you say that a boy's mother is his best friend?

If you do, you're wrong, says Dr. Harry F. Harlow.

He's the director of the Wisconsin Regional Primate Center and the primate laboratory at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Dr. Harlow told the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute mother is No. 2, no better.

Since 1930, Harlow has subjected primates to practically every mother-infant and age-mate situation he could think of, and he said Thursday his conclusion is:

The most important aspect of a youngster's personality development and social adjustment is early and continued relationship with his own age group.

"A mother's most important role is to facilitate this age-mate socialization. But a mother is the best possible substitute, if an age-mate associate is impossible," Harlow said.

The best socialization mechanism?

Among monkeys or among humans, it's development of love among age-mates, the researcher says.

Viet Reds Warn Of Hard Fight After Holidays

SAIGON, South Viet Nam

(AP) — Hanoi is warning of harder Communist attacks after the Tet celebration ends Sunday. Hanoi Radio broadcast a New Year's message from the Viet Cong saying: "Let our people march forward to continually strike deadly blows at the U.S. aggressors and disintegrate many puppet troops and win greater victories."

The president of North Viet Nam's fatherland front, Ton Duc Thang, called for "more and still greater successes to bring the national salvation war against U.S. imperialist aggression to early victory."

The custom of exploding firecrackers to chase away demons on the New Year unnerved a truckload of South Koreans coming into Saigon from the battle zones. As their truck entered the capital, a dozen Korean soldiers assumed they were being fired on and shot back into the trees and upper stories of buildings along the street.

Another truckload of U.S. soldiers heard the shooting. Witnesses said the GIs jumped from their vehicle, deployed along the curb and also fired into the trees while holiday crowds scattered for cover and military police converged on the intersection, at a corner of Saigon's old French cemetery.

Some witnesses said the Koreans and the Americans fired at each other. However, no casualties were reported and eventually military authorities untangled the confusion. A little later the Vietnamese resumed their holiday sport of driving off the evil spirits with firecrackers.

Minor skirmishes occurred during the night, a U.S. spokesman said, but he described them as harassments rather than major infractions of the four-day cease-fire proclaimed by the Communists and the 78-hour pause announced by the Allies. He declined to place any blame, saying it was not clear who started the shooting in any specific incident.

He said there were unspecified casualties on both sides, including Americans.

The Allies continued air and sea patrols.

U.S. officers regarded as especially critical the hours immediately after the truce when the Communists might launch a big attack to grab the initiative. The Viet Cong mortared an American base at Pleiku, in the

49 Violations Of Truce Counted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong jolted the lunar New Year cease-fire today by attacking a U.S. Marine patrol near Da Nang and engaging South Korean marines in a two-hour close-quarter battle near the central coast. Two Americans and 46 Communists were reported killed.

Two U.S. Marine sergeants were killed when the guerrillas caught a Leatherneck platoon on security patrol in a crossfire of automatic weapons and rifles as it struggled through the mud of a flooded rice paddy 7 miles south of Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Americans poured artillery fire into the enemy positions. One wounded Viet Cong was captured and six suspects were detained.

By nightfall of the second day of the holiday truce, the U.S. military command reported a total of 49 violations by the Communists, but most were regarded as minor brushes. In Saigon, some overanxious Koreans began shooting when they heard the sound of firecrackers as the Vietnamese greeted the Year of the Horse on the lunar calendar.

Thirty-four of the Communist attacks were reported against U.S., Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops. This raised questions among military observers whether the Communists really intended to include South Viet Nam's allies in the four-day Viet Cong cease-fire.

When the underground Liberation Front radio broadcast the truce terms three weeks ago, it did not specifically include Allied soldiers but said it hoped they would respect the Vietnamese New Year celebration.

The other 15 attacks, all characterized as minor, were against government forces.

The Koreans reported 400 Viet Cong attacked a platoon of their marines shortly after midnight 10 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, a coastal town 230 miles north-east of Saigon.

A Korean military spokesman said the marines beat off the attack and killed 46 of the Communists.

Childhood Injury Rate Runs High

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 15 million childhood injuries occur in the nation each year, according to two surgeons at the University Medical Center in Cleveland.

Dr. Robert J. Izant Jr., and Dr. Charles A. Hubay, both of the Western Reserve University School of Medicine, made the estimate after a year-long study of emergency visits to university hospitals.

The doctors found that children under 14 accounted for 49 per cent of the 42,000 patients treated in emergency rooms of university hospitals during a 12-month period. One of every four emergency visits was due to an accident, they said.

Rusk Predicts Hotter War

Failure Hinted For Truce Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today "there is every indication" that the Communist side in Viet Nam will intensify its activity after the current lunar new year holiday period ends Sunday.

Rusk told a news conference that President Johnson's peace offensive had failed to get "any positive and encouraging response" from the Vietnamese Communists.

Otherwise he said it had drawn an "overwhelmingly favorable response" throughout the world.

His words indicated that the peace drive and the pause in bombing North Viet Nam have come to the end of a phase, but he avoided saying so directly. He refused to say whether or when the United States will resume bombing the North.

Asked about the war outlook, however, he said: "There is every sign that the other side is going to intensify its activity after the Tet (lunar new year) period."

Asked whether the war might spread into other areas, Rusk said "there is always a danger when an aggressor sets out to impose his will by force and the other side is determined to keep its commitments."

On the question of resuming bombing of North Viet Nam — the pause is now in its 29th day — Rusk said he would not disclose future military developments.

"Our commitment is deep," he said, "we will do what is necessary to achieve our elementary objective."

This was the first news conference by Rusk since the peace offensive started three days after Christmas. He returned two days ago from a trip to Asia and reported Thursday to President Johnson, along with roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

The tone of Rusk's report suggested that the peace drive has come to an end in failure, yet he refrained from any such description. He spoke of continuing a quest of peaceful settlement in Viet Nam "with patience and persistence."

He left up in the air the whole question of resuming the bombing of North Viet Nam.

The United States, Rusk said, had gone into the bombing pause and peace offensive because a number of governments including Communist governments, indicated that "the prospects for peace could be improved if the bombing were suspended."

"The question posed to the other side," Rusk said, "'Are you interested in peace?' We've been waiting for some word from Hanoi that goes beyond bitter invective."

"I regret that I cannot report to you any positive and encouraging response to the hopes of the overwhelming majority of mankind."

Test Drivers Hit 70 Mph. Pace for 24 Solid Hours

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — First results of a driver fatigue test being conducted by Ohio State University researchers show the test drivers have more endurance than expected.

The researchers of the systems research group at OSU's engineering experiment station said they were surprised that the drivers on the 70 m.p.h., 1,400-mile 24-hour endurance run did much better than expected.

The test runs were conducted recently on Interstate 71 between Columbus and Cincinnati.

Of the seven volunteer drivers participating, only two were unable to finish the prescribed task of driving 24 consecutive hours at 70 m.p.h. The two who failed drove for about 21 hours each before they asked or were told to stop.

Winter's hefty one-two punch, snow and cold, again pounded wide areas in the north central region, the Rockies and southern Plains today.

The snow and subzero cold hit sections in at least 20 states. North Dakota and Montana had the lowest temperatures. But snow and below-zero readings also were reported in parts of Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kansas.

The mercury dropped to 30 below zero early today at Dickinson, N.D. Temperatures were below zero Thursday in most of the Dakotas, including high readings of -11 at Devils Lake, N.D., and -8 at Lemmon, S.D.

Snow fell throughout most of the cold belt and heavy snow covered many areas. Snow extended into the plains of New Mexico and Texas and the Weather Bureau said four to six inches appeared likely from eastern New Mexico to western Oklahoma and northwestern Texas.

Stiff northerly winds fanned the cold air across the north central region southward and there was drifting of snow in some areas.

In Wisconsin, with heavy snow across many sections, temperatures were below zero for the eighth straight night in some cities as the fresh surge of Arctic air moved into the northwestern part of the state.

Snow measured six inches at Goodland, in northwestern Kansas, and it was one below zero. Four inches of snow covered Dodge City, in the southwest part of the state.

Snow amounts in Oklahoma ranged from 3 to 6 inches, with heavy amounts indicated today and tonight. Agriculture experts described the moisture as a "million-dollar snow" to many areas because of the lack of rain and snow in recent months.

Jeweler Is Beaten, Robbed by Gunmen

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two gunmen robbed a Shaker Heights jewelry store of nearly $20,000 Thursday, beating the owner with a sawed-off shotgun when he failed to move fast enough.

Police said the pair tied up Jack Yesikoff, 57, the owner, and two other employees in a back room and fled.

The loot included nearly $2,000 in cash, assorted watches, diamond rings and precious stones.

Ohio Awaits Decision on College Draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio does not expect a directive from national Selective Service authorities for several weeks in the matter of whether it will be necessary to tap the pool of draft-deferred college students for the Viet Nam military buildup.

Col. Raymond E. Clouse, Ohio Selective Service director, said Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey did not give a hint to Midwest officials on what his decision will be, when he met with draft directors in Washington Wednesday.

If draft levels remain at current high levels, Selective Service will have to tap college students to meet quotas, Hershey said. Local boards will probably be directed to return to Korean War criteria for deferments — a combination of class standing and scores on a Selective Service test.

Clouse said Ohio will be able to meet calls at current levels for several months without college men.

Too Cold To Walk, Youth Steals Car

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A 16-year-old boy who stole a car "because it was too cold to walk to school" led police on a wild chase this morning.

Patrolman Joe Hazlett spotted the stolen car in the driveway of Wilson Junior High School but the youth drove off as the officer approached.

Hazlett chased the car at high speeds through the back streets and alleys around the school, firing one warning shot. The youth finally stopped the car in front of a shopping center and took off on foot.

The chase continued through back alleys, yards and the hallways of Taft High School. Finally two warning shots in rapid succession brought the boy to a halt after he had run out of the school building.

Marines' Strength Due To Hit Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strengthening of the Marine Corps by nearly 55,000 more men will raise the corps to its highest manpower level since World War II.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has proposed boosting the Marine ceiling to 278,184 officers and men and to create a fourth Marine division.

Even at its peak in the Korean War, the Marine Corps did not reach the strength now planned for it. In September 1953, there were 261,343 Marines on duty.

The Marines already have more men in Viet Nam than they had in Korea at their highest point.

Murder Charge Faces Slayer of Woman, 48

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Authorities filed first-degree murder charges Thursday against Charles Worthington, 56, of Springfield, accused of fatally shooting Mrs. Fennell Finney, 48, at her home here Wednesday. Worthington allegedly shot Mrs. Finney when she tried to stop him from bothering her sister, his former girlfriend.

Independence, Jerusalem Are Linked

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — In far-away Jerusalem and in independence leaders of two nations launched a movement toward world peace in the name of Harry S. Truman.

A multimillion-dollar peace center, named for the former president, will be built in Israel. That concept was praised on all sides Thursday.

Truman let David Noyes, an associate, read part of his statement.

"It is all too obvious," Truman wrote, "that if we do not abolish war on this earth, then surely,

one day, war will abolish us from the earth."

President Johnson flew in from Washington, bringing many of Truman's Cabinet members and staff leaders.

Seated in the auditorium of his presidential library, the 81-year-old Truman listened to speeches by President Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and others for 90 minutes. Obviously tired when his turn came, he gave his statement to Noyes to read.

"An unimaginable catastrophe of a third world war hangs like a dark cloud over all mankind," Truman wrote. "What so many in places of leadership do not seem to realize is that if petty bickerings and squabbles are not peaceably resolved, the situation could get out of hand — as it has so many times in the past."

"But the next time it will not be merely a third world conflict — it could well be the last folly of man — likely the last man on this earth..."

After President Johnson left, Truman was host to more than 120 persons at a luncheon. The group included many of the 35 persons who have given $100,000 each for the peace center and its endowment.

In Jerusalem, at a solemn ceremony in the home of Israel's President Zalman Shazar, it was recalled that Truman announced U.S. recognition of Israel 11 minutes after the new nation was established May 14, 1948.

It is good to "link the name of Harry S. Truman with a scholarly institute in Jerusalem's shrine of learning," Shazar said.

Ohio Awaits Decision on College Draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio does not expect a directive from national Selective Service authorities for several weeks in the matter of whether it will be necessary to tap the pool of draft-deferred college students for the Viet Nam military buildup.

Col. Raymond E. Clouse, Ohio Selective Service director, said Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey did not give a hint to Midwest officials on what his decision will be, when he met with draft directors in Washington Wednesday.

If draft levels remain at current high levels, Selective Service will have to tap college students to meet quotas, Hershey said. Local boards will probably be directed to return to Korean War criteria for deferments — a combination of class standing and scores on a Selective Service test.

Clouse said Ohio will be able to meet calls at current levels for several months without college men.

Too Cold To Walk, Youth Steals Car

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A 16-year-old boy who stole a car "because it was too cold to walk to school" led police on a wild chase this morning.

Patrolman Joe Hazlett spotted the stolen car in the driveway of Wilson Junior High School but the youth drove off as the officer approached.

Hazlett chased the car at high speeds through the back streets and alleys around the school, firing one warning shot. The youth finally stopped the car in front of a shopping center and took off on foot.

The chase continued through back alleys, yards and the hallways of Taft High School. Finally two warning shots in rapid succession brought the boy to a halt after he had run out of the school building.

Marines' Strength Due To Hit Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strengthening of the Marine Corps by nearly 55,000 more men will raise the corps to its highest manpower level since World War II.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has proposed boosting the Marine ceiling to 278,184 officers and men and to create a fourth Marine division. Even at its peak in the Korean War, the Marine Corps did not reach the strength now planned for it. In September 1953, there were 261,343 Marines on duty.

The Marines already have more men in Viet Nam than they had in Korea at their highest point.

Murder Charge Faces Slayer of Woman, 48

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Authorities filed first-degree murder charges Thursday against Charles Worthington, 56, of Springfield, accused of fatally shooting Mrs. Fenzell Finney, 48, at her home here Wednesday. Worthington allegedly shot Mrs. Finney when she tried to stop him from both her sister, his former girlfriend.

Independence, Jerusalem Are Linked

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — In far-away Jerusalem and in Independence leaders of two nations launched a movement toward world peace in the name of Harry S. Truman.

A multimillion-dollar peace center, named for the former president, will be built in Israel. That concept was praised on all sides Thursday.

Truman let David Noyes, an associate, read part of his statement. "It is all too obvious," Truman wrote, "that if we do not abolish war on this earth, then surely,

one day, war will abolish us from the earth."

President Johnson flew in from Washington, bringing many of Truman's Cabinet members and staff leaders.

Seated in the auditorium of his presidential library, the 81-year-old Truman listened to speeches by President Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and others for 90 minutes. Obviously tired when his turn came, he gave his statement to Noyes to read.

"An unimaginable catastrophe of a third world war hangs

like a dark cloud over all mankind," Truman wrote. "What so many in places of leadership do not seem to realize is that if petty bickerings and squabbles are not peaceably resolved, the situation could get out of hand — as it has so many times in the past."

"But the next time it will not be merely a third world conflict — it could well be the last folly of man — likely the last of man on this earth..."

After President Johnson left, Truman was host to more than 120 persons at a luncheon. The

Boy's Mother Said Not His Best Friend

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Would you say that a boy's mother is his best friend?

If you do, you're wrong, says Dr. Harry F. Harlow.

He's the director of the Wisconsin Regional Primate Center and the primate laboratory at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Dr. Harlow told the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute mother is No. 2, no better.

Since 1930, Harlow has subjected primates to practically every mother-infant and age-mate situation he could think of, and he said Thursday his conclusion is:

The most important aspect of a youngster's personality development and social adjustment is early and continued relationship with his own age group.

"A mother's most important role is to facilitate this age-mate socialization. But a mother is the best possible substitute, if an age-mate associate is impossible," Harlow said.

The best socialization mechanism?

Among monkeys or among humans, it's development of love among age-mates, the researcher says.

New York State Purchases Railroad

NEW YORK (AP) — New York State has completed purchase of the Long Island Rail Road, the world's busiest commuter line, for $65 million.

The Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority, recently created by the State Legislature, wound up the deal Thursday by handing a check for $55 million to the railroad's outgoing board of directors. The state had made a down payment of $10 million Dec. 22.

The money will be turned over to the Pennsylvania Railroad, owner of all the Long Island's stock, as soon as the Interstate Commerce Commission gives written approval of some aspects of the transfer.

Vinton Motorist Fined $365 In Circleville Muny Court

Thomas Starr, Vinton, was handed fines totaling $365 Thursday afternoon in Circleville Municipal Court on a series of traffic charges lodged against him by South Bloomfield Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Starr entered pleas of innocent to six traffic counts. He was found guilty of disobeying a traffic signal, reckless operation, driving a vehicle with fictitious registration, driving when he had no operator's license and failure to obey an officer.

A charge of speeding issued by the sheriff's department was dismissed by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

In addition to the fines, Starr was sentenced to 15 days in the County Jail. He was also cited for carrying a concealed weapon.

He was bound to the next term of the Grand Jury after entering a plea of innocent to the weapon count. Judge Lamb ruled sufficient evidence existed to warrant a hearing in the higher court.

Other motorists listed on the completed court docket included:

Leon Gullerforde, Lima; $20 and costs for no safety equipment.

Alva W. Holly, Columbus; $29 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Richard Hedges, 541 N. Court St.; $34 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

William L. Slater, Afex, Ky.; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marvin Swank, Troy, $24 bond forfeiture for following another vehicle too closely.

central highlands, when the lunar New Year holiday ended last February, killing nine U.S. soldiers and wounding scores of others.

President Johnson launched the U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam in retaliation.

As the suspension of air attacks on North Viet Nam entered the 29th day, the United States came under more pressure to continue the moratorium.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told the House of Commons in Ottawa Thursday he hoped the bombing moratorium would continue "as long as possible." He said the suspension and President Johnson's diplomatic moves had brought "no response that you could detect from Hanoi," but he added he still hoped for peace talks.

U. N. Secretary-General U Thant told a news conference in New York that there had been an "undeniable rapprochement" between the positions of the parties in the Viet Nam conflict and that the halt in U.S. raids on the North had improved chances for negotiations.

He called on the belligerents to make proposals for a broadly representative government in South Viet Nam, including the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm.

At a ceremony honoring former President Harry S. Truman in Independence, Mo., Thursday, Johnson said the Communists had so far rejected his peace bid because they mistakenly believe the United States will surrender its principles, abandon its allies "or get tired and move out." Johnson added: "The door of peace must be kept wide open...The door of aggression must be closed and bolted."

Castro Threats Alert Dominica

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Fidel Castro's threat to intervene in the Dominican Republic has caused the Dominican armed forces to intensify security precautions along the northwest coast.

The armed forces minister, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, declined Thursday night to go into details of the coastal watch. But he said naval patrols were concentrating on nearly 100 miles of coastline between Monte Cristi and Puerto Plata. Cuba's eastern tip is 160 miles northeast of Monte Cristi.

Two Decisions Upheld by Appeals Court

Decisions handed down by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer in two criminal cases have been affirmed by the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Notification of the appeals court's ruling in agreement with Judge Ammer were received today by the clerk of courts.

First of the two cases involved an appeal filed by Clarence Sawyer, Watt St., who was tried and convicted of an accusation of having carnal knowledge of a minor female. He was originally charged with forcible rape, but the charge was reduced by the court.

Sawyer was sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary for a period of 1-20 years by the local court. His prison term was confirmed this week by the higher court.

THE second decision upheld concerned David L. Sheppard, Columbus, who was tried and convicted of an armed robbery charge here.

Sheppard, now serving a sentence at the Ohio Penitentiary, on June 25 of last year filed a motion for a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence. The motion was overruled by Judge Ammer and the appeals court, in turn, upheld his ruling.

Vinton Motorist Fined $365 In Circleville Muny Court

Thomas Starr, Vinton, was handed fines totaling $365 Thursday afternoon in Circleville Municipal Court on a series of traffic charges lodged against him by South Bloomfield Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Starr entered pleas of innocent to six traffic counts. He was found guilty of disobeying a traffic signal, reckless operation, driving a vehicle with fetitious registration, driving when he had no operator's license and failure to obey an officer.

A charge of speeding issued by the sheriff's department was dismissed by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

In addition to the fines, Starr was sentenced to 15 days in the County Jail. He was also cited for carrying a concealed weapon.

He was bound to the next term of the Grand Jury after entering a plea of innocent to the weapon count. Judge Lamb ruled sufficient evidence existed to warrant a hearing in the higher court.

Other motorists listed on the completed court docket included:

Leon Gulerforde, Lima; $20 and costs for no safety equipment.

Alva W. Holly, Columbus; $29 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Richard Hedges, 541 N. Court St.; $34 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

William L. Slater, Afex, Ky.; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marvin Swank, Troy; $24 bond forfeiture for following another vehicle too closely.

central highlands, when the lunar New Year holiday ended last February, killing nine U.S. soldiers and wounding scores of others.

President Johnson launched the U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam in retaliation.

As the suspension of air attacks on North Viet Nam entered the 29th day, the United States came under more pressure to continue the moratorium.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told the House of Commons in Ottawa Thursday he hoped the bombing moratorium would continue "as long as possible." He said the suspension and President Johnson's diplomatic moves had brought "no response that you could detect from Hanoi," but he added he still hoped for peace talks.

U. N. Secretary-General U Thant told a news conference in New York that there had been an "undeniable rapprochement between the positions of the parties" in the Viet Nam conflict and that the halt in U.S. raids on the North had improved chances for negotiations.

He called on the belligerents to make proposals for a broadly representative government in South Viet Nam, including the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm.

At a ceremony honoring former President Harry S. Truman in Independence, Mo., Thursday, Johnson said the Communists had so far rejected his peace bid because they mistakenly believe the United States will surrender its principles, abandon its allies "or get tired and move out," Johnson added.

"The door of peace must be kept wide open...The door of aggression must be closed and bolted."

State Worker Seeks Benefits In Lawsuit

A jury trial entered its second day of testimony today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. It involves an area man seeking participation in benefits under Ohio Workmen's Compensation.

Charles E. Flora, Route 2, Orient, filed the suit asking for a jury trial after he was denied additional benefits for an alleged injury while working at the Orient State Hospital as a psychiatric aid.

Flora, already receiving state money for a pre-existing heart condition, claimed that a patient at the state hospital "squeezed him around the chest" which aggravated a heart condition.

Chester A. Freeman, a Columbus attorney, is representing Flora. Defense counsel consists of Ted Griner and Tony Kidd, both assistants in Attorney General William B. Saxbe's office.

Serving on the jury are Wayne Justice, Galen D. Mowery, John F. Dowler, Pauline Moore, Maggie E. Mavis, Mary E. Carpenter, Paul E. Gaines, Louise George, Ronald New, Willis See, William H. Hulise Jr., and Gladys N. Ward. Seated as alternate juror was Erma Hines.

Castro Threats Alert Dominica

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Fidel Castro's threat to intervene in the Dominican Republic has caused the Dominican armed forces to intensify security precautions along the northwest coast.

The armed forces minister, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, declined Thursday night to go into details of the coastal watch. But he said naval patrols were concentrating on nearly 100 miles of coastline between Monte Cristi and Puerto Plata. Cuba's eastern tip is 160 miles northeast of Monte Cristi.

The minister also revealed that the Dominican navy recently acquired "several" new high-speed, heavily armed patrol craft from the United States. It was learned, however, that the small boats arrived some time before the new threat from Havana.

The commodore said the reason for the increased vigilance could be found in the words of Castro and the Dominican delegates at the Havana conference of revolutionaries from Latin America, Asia and Africa.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in combat in Viet Nam has reached 1,750, surpassing the totals for the Spanish-American and Mexican wars.

A total of 1,733 Americans were killed in combat in the Mexican War and 383 in the Spanish-American War. The Korean War took the lives of 33,629 American servicemen.

The Pentagon's weekly summary Thursday showed 68 U.S. servicemen died in Viet Nam combat last week.

ROME (AP) — Premier Aldo Moro resigned today after an undercover rebellion in his own Christian Democrat party and shaken confidence of his Socialist allies weakened his 2-year-old center-left government.

Moro's resignation was triggered by an embarrassing defeat in the Chamber of Deputies Thursday on his bill to set up state nursery school. He had described the measure as a key reform that the Socialists demanded when entering the coalition in December 1963.

The premier's decision to step down was taken after a meeting with his Cabinet today.

The resignation plunges this Atlantic Alliance nation into unexpected political crisis. Only a few weeks ago it had appeared that Moro probably would be able to hold his coalition government together until the next national parliamentary elections in 1967.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A business research group says budget sessions of House Appropriations subcommittees should be opened to the news media and public.

Such meetings generally are held in secret.

The Committee for Economic Development said Thursday in a report that the only closed meetings should be for discussions involving national security or for detail bill-drafting.

Two Decisions Upheld by Appeals Court

Decisions handed down by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer in two criminal cases have been affirmed by the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Notification of the appeals court's ruling in agreement with Judge Ammer were received today by the clerk of courts.

First of the two cases involved an appeal filed by Clarence Sawyer, Watt St., who was tried and convicted of an accusation of having carnal knowledge of a minor female. He was originally charged with forcible rape, but the charge was reduced by the court.

Sawyer was sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary for a period of 1-20 years by the local court. His prison term was confirmed this week by the higher court.

THE second decision upheld concerned David L. Sheppard, Columbus, who was tried and convicted of an armed robbery charge here.

Sheppard, now serving a sentence at the Ohio Penitentiary, on June 25 of last year filed a motion for a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence. The motion was overruled by Judge Ammer and the appeals court, in turn, upheld his ruling.

WW II Outfit Seeks Men For Reunion

The 83rd Infantry Division, the famed Thunderbolt Division of World War II, is seeking some 25,000 of its former members in preparation for its annual reunion.

The 25,000 men being sought is the number of men on the roster who have not been contacted since the end of the war. Many of these men are Ohio natives since the 83rd Division was an Ohio outfit, according to Victor E. Landis, publicity director of the division.

At the close of the war, Landis said, an association was formed and an annual reunion has been held every year. This year the 20th annual convocation will be held in August at Pittsburgh, Pa.

All former members of the division are to contact the national secretary, Harry Lockwood, 43 Oakland Ave., Jersey City 6, N. J.

Du Pont Lists Supervisor Appointment

Du Pont officials today announced the appointment of Dennis A. Johnson as a shift supervisor in manufacturing at the local plant.

Johnson became associated with Du Pont in 1963 when he was assigned as a specialist in the marketing development and customer service section in the film department. These duties were performed in the Chestnut Run Laboratories at Wilmington, Dela.

The new shift supervisor came to the Circleville installation in 1964 as a process engineer in the technical section. He and his wife, Barbara, live at 605 Plaza Drive.

Johnson is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin where he was awarded a bachelor degree in mechanical engineering. He is a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and serves as assistant district commissioner for the Boy Scouts.

Clifton extended a note of appreciation to outgoing directors Charles Boggs, Julius (Judy) Gordon, Robert Porter, Dr. Richard Samuel, Forrest Thomerson, Charles Wellman and Dale DeLong.

PALM, in moving to the president's chair, holds a post not unknown in his family. His father, Russell C. Palm, served as the Chamber's chief executive 21 year ago.

Gupton, vice president of the Third National Bank in Nashville, Tenn., utilized the skill of a renowned speaker in putting across his point that the right attitude is all - important in business. His address gleamed with cheer and delightful comedy.

He termed the United States a "master of production." Drawing on his bountiful supply of humor, he described how this has been accomplished through a sharing of ideas and skills and the conception that "we give a little before we can get."

The evening's program was under the direction of Robert McKelvey and his committee. Dinner music was provided at the organ by Chuck Wise of Zanesville.

A delightful homestyle dinner was prepared and served by Hedges Chapel personnel. The centerpiece at the speaker's table was presented to Mrs. Clifton.

The southeast Missouri area has been second only to the West Coast in frequency and severity of earth tremors in the United States. The nature of the fault zone remains a mystery.

West Berliners Flocking To 'Auschwitz' Exhibit

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of West Berliners come each day to the picture of the old Jewish woman dressed in black and wearing a star of David. Above her head is the word "Auschwitz."

The picture is on posters at the entrance to an exhibit on the World War II Nazi concentration camp at Auschwitz, Poland.

Bigger - than - life black and white photographs, documents, prison uniforms and cans of poison gas used in the camp's gas chambers depict the inner workings at the Nazi death mill. A movie on the camp is shown three times a day.

The exhibit, sponsored jointly by the city government, political parties, youth groups and labor unions, is in its third week. It was scheduled to close

County Gets $491 In Liquor Fees

Pickaway County received $491.20 in the regular quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees.

State Auditor Cloud said the regular quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees totals $2,432,070.20 to the political subdivisions of the state.

This was a drop of $330,505.13 from the corresponding period last year, and brought to $9,346,513.37 the total distributions to the subdivisions during the 1965 calendar year as against $9,871,543.29 for calendar 1964.

Payments to the eight large cities amounted to $1,004,752 or 41.3 per cent of the state-wide distribution, Cloud said.

Largest check, amounting to $330,465.65, went to Cleveland, while the smallest distribution amounting to $4.97 went to both Parkview in Cuyahoga County and St. Clair township in Butler County.

Fall Kills Man, 58
CINCINNATI (AP) — A 58-year-old man died Thursday when he fell from a six-foot ladder and struck his head on a metal ring at the Prestige Doughnuts Co. He was Raymond Moore of Cincinnati.

Jan. 30 but has been extended a month.

Some 20,000 West Berliners have seen it since Jan. 2. "Currently, about 2,000 people see the display daily," said a spokesman, Hans Kirshner.

The exhibition is at the Gallery of the 20th Century on a side street near the main railway station.

Interest is high because West Berlin has never had such an exhibit, Kirshner said, "but the crowds here are no bigger than those that went to see it in West Germany."

The exhibit was put together during the 20-month trial of 20 of the camp's functionaries that ended in Frankfurt last August.

School and youth groups are encouraged to come and a large percentage of those who do are young people. An attendant said most people look in absolute silence.

Five youths, 17 to 19 years old, told a newsman Thursday they came "because we are discussing Auschwitz at school." A 17-year-old said neither the German people nor his generation were to blame for Auschwitz.

"Those who did it and were there are to blame," he said. "Why should my generation have to pay?"

A man, 51, said: "I came to satisfy my own curiosity. I was a soldier for six years and knew little of what happened behind the front at the time."

"Yes," he added, "we Germans are guilty. We did not do enough to hinder what happened."

Psychologist To Testify in Ohioan's Trial

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Ron Peterson, an Arizona State College psychologist, was to take the stand today in the Donald M. Boggs murder case.

The state rested its case Thursday in the Superior Court hearing for Boggs, 23, an ex-convict from Londonderry, Ohio.

Boggs has pleaded guilty to killing two New Hampshire men Sept. 5, 1965, in Northern Arizona. He asked that a jury decide whether he should be executed or face a life prison term.

Defense attorney Tom Brooks said he may not have more than two witnesses—Peterson and Dr. Maier Tuchler, a Phoenix, Ariz., psychiatrist.

The state called several witnesses Thursday, including sheriff's deputy William Kinney, who arrested Boggs in a Flagstaff pawn shop.

Boggs has admitted the fatal shootings.

Dixie Lee Radcliff, 16, the daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, minister, was arrested with Boggs. She is to go on trial March 7 on two counts of murder in the deaths.

The exhibit, sponsored jointly by the city government, political parties, youth groups and labor unions, is in its third week. It was scheduled to close

Jan. 30 but has been extended a month.

Some 20,000 West Berliners have seen it since Jan. 2. "Currently, about 2,000 people see the display daily," said a spokesman, Hans Kirchner. The exhibition is at the Gallery of the 20th Century on a side street near the main railway station.

Interest is high because West Berlin has never had such an exhibit, Kirchner said, "but the crowds here are no bigger than those that went to see it in West Germany."

The exhibit was put together during the 20-month trial of 20 of the camp's functionaries that ended in Frankfurt last August. School and youth groups are encouraged to come and a large percentage of those who do are young people. An attendant said most people look in absolute silence.

Five youths, 17 to 19 years old, told a newsman Thursday they came "because we are discussing Auschwitz at school." A 17-year-old said neither the German people nor his generation were to blame for Auschwitz.

"Those who did it and were there are to blame," he said. "Why should my generation have to pay?"

A man, 51, said: "I came to satisfy my own curiosity. I was a soldier for six years and knew little of what happened behind the front at the time."

"Yes," he added, "we Germans are guilty. We did not do enough to hinder what happened."

Psychologist To Testify in Ohioan's Trial

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Ron Peterson, an Arizona State College psychologist, was to take the stand today in the Donald M. Boggs murder case.

The state rested its case Thursday in the Superior Court hearing for Boggs, 23, an ex-convict from Londonderry, Ohio. Boggs has pleaded guilty to killing two New Hampshire men Sept. 5, 1965, in Northern Arizona. He asked that a jury decide whether he should be executed or face a life prison term.

Defense attorney Tom Brooks said he may not have more than two witnesses—Peterson and Dr. Maier Tucher, a Phoenix, Ariz., psychiatrist.

The state called several witnesses Thursday, including sheriff's deputy William Kinney, who arrested Boggs in a Flagstaff pawn shop.

Boggs has admitted the fatal shootings.

Dixie Lee Radcliff, 16, the daughter of an Amesville, Ohio, minister, was arrested with Boggs. She is to go on trial March 7 on two counts of murder in the deaths.

County Gets $491 In Liquor Fees

Pickaway County received $491.20 in the regular quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees.

State Auditor Cloud said the regular quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees totals $2,432,070.20 to the political subdivisions of the state.

This was a drop of $330,505.13 from the corresponding period last year, and brought to $9,346,513.37 the total distributions to the subdivisions during the 1965 calendar year as against $9,871,543.29 for calendar 1964.

Payments to the eight large cities amounted to $1,004,752 or 41.3 per cent of the state-wide distribution, Cloud said.

Largest check, amounting to $330,465.65, went to Cleveland, while the smallest distribution amounting to $4.97 went to both Parkview in Cuyahoga County and St. Clair township in Butler County.

NEW YORK (AP) — Polly Bergen leads many lives.

A self-admitted "has been" at the age of 8, at 35 she is one of the top all-around performers in show business, and is active in so many other fields she keeps as busy as a one-armed juggler.

"To me life means exhaling," the husky-voiced, blue-eyed singer said between shows here.

"It seems to me I've spent most of my life taking a deep breath. When I exhale afterward, I can take off my shoes and relax. Everything then is all right. Nobody threw a tomato at me."

In addition to her night club chores, Polly at present also—

1. Operates three dress shops in Tennessee.
2. Runs her own music publishing firm.
3. Handles her own oil field and real estate investments.
4. Designs carpets for her brother-in-law, a rug manufacturer.

5. Works for several civic and humanitarian projects.
6. Has started a mail order firm to market a cosmetic skin product for men called "Polly Bergen's Whipped Pink Oil of the Turtle."

What makes Polly run so hard? Perhaps because she was constantly on the move as a child—always starting over in a new place. As the daughter of a construction engineer, she lived in 27 states and attended 45 grammar and high schools.

"At the age of 3 and 4 I was always a dead-catch $2 prize winner in amateur contests," she said. "But at 8, I had become a has-been."

"Then at 14, I got my own radio show at $6 a week. I got $15 for my first television appearance—and a case of tomato soup."

"I also worked for $19 a week as a drugstore clerk, $20 a week as a carhop, $22 a week as a short order cook. I used to spend hours arguing people out for ordering pancakes. I could not turn them."

Polly then became a band singer, quickly rose to stardom on the supper club circuit—Las Vegas was glad to pay her $7,500 a week—and in films, the theater, television and the recording field.

What kind of a gal is Miss Bergen? She says:

"I have no goals except to be myself and do what I can do. I've finally decided that's the only real success. The most destructive force in my life was the advice I got in childhood 'if you can't do it well, don't do it at all.'"

"It makes you try to be a perfectionist when there is no such thing as perfection."

"You spend all your life getting 4 A's and one B — and hating yourself for getting that B."

NEW YORK (AP) — Boosting the interest rate on U.S. savings bonds is in part a necessity and in part a drive to raise the federal debt in the form least likely to feed inflation.

The U.S. Treasury's necessity arises from the drop in sales of E & H bonds in recent weeks and the rise in redemptions of bonds already held by the public. In 1965 sales slipped by 2.7 per cent from 1964. But in December sales were 11 per cent below those of a year ago.

At an interest rate of 3 3/4 per cent, paid since 1959, the bonds couldn't compete with returns that the small investor could get from several other forms of savings. And in recent weeks institutions offering these other forms — commercial banks, mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations — have been spiritedly competing to lure savers their way by raising still higher the interest or dividend they will pay.

The need to raise the federal debt — and to make such an increase as ununfashionable as possible — is clear.

Even the most optimistic view of the forthcoming administrative budget is that there will be yet another Treasury deficit. And the more comprehensive cash budget, including income and outgo for such agencies as Social Security and highways, is too hefty this far in advance of the 1967 fiscal year to insure the Treasury against the need to sell more securities to keep its cash till from being empty.

The security that has the least inflationary tinge probably is the savings bond. That is because the buyer uses money he might otherwise be spending for still more goods and services. And he usually puts the bond away, thus keeping the money out of circulation. He can't sell the bond to his banker or loan company, but redeem it only through the Treasury.

Some other Treasury securities, especially if sold to banks, are considered inflationary. They are marketable, and often dubbed the next thing to money itself. And the bank pays for them by setting up Treasury deposit accounts. While these are being drawn down, the bank has a lot of money on hand it can lend — thus swelling the supply of credit. Or it can sell the Treasury security and use the proceeds to make loans.

So the Treasury would like to see as many of its securities as possible in the hands of the individual savers — and preferably tucked away for a long stay in strong boxes.

Right now the administration seems particularly anxious to have such money out of circulation. If savings bond redemptions rose too much, the one-time savers might be using the proceeds to bid up prices of the goods and services already in strong demand. And rising prices spells inflation.

A NEWLY-ARRIVED English lady had an unnerving experience a short while back. She heard about a furniture auction to be held in a swank gallery, and proceeded thither, hoping to pick up a few choice pieces for her newly-rented Manhattan home. When she arrived, she didn't see another soul in the place, and demanded of the mournful looking gentleman guarding the door, "Isn't there an event scheduled here this afternoon?" "Are you a relative?" he countered. "A relative?" she replied. "Do I have to be a relative to bid on some furniture?" "My dear lady," the mournful gentleman told her, "the auction is next door. This is a funeral parlor."

Dr. Pullman, the society dentist, ordered a nervous patient, "Open wide," then announced, "You've got the biggest cavity I ever saw—the biggest cavity I ever saw." "You don't have to repeat it," grumbled the patient. "Who's repeating?" shrugged Doc Pullman. "You heard the echo."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why is the knee joint so easily injured in sports and accidents?

The knee is one of the most easily injured joints in the body because it is involved in almost all body activities. It almost always bears the weight of the body. All movements of the legs accompany some motion of the knee joint.

Two cartilages separate the thigh bone from one of the bones of the leg (tibia). These cartilages protect the knee from injury during walking, turning or twisting.

Is the knee cartilage the same as the kneecap?

No. They are two totally different structures. The kneecap, or patella, is a bone which lies in front of the knee and moves up and down with movement of the legs. The kneecap protects the joint, but also gives added strength to the muscles and ligaments of the legs and thigh.

What is meant by a locked knee?

After an accident, during which a knee cartilage is torn, there is a locked or restricted motion of the knee joint. Usually the leg is kept bent and can only be straightened with pain and difficulty. With injury it causes swelling of the knee and the inability to bear weight comfortably.

How is the diagnosis of a torn cartilage definitely established?

Examination of the knee joint, during rest and activity, is the only reliable means at our disposal. A history of a twisting accident, followed by a feeling of weakness when standing, and swelling and tenderness over the knee is very suggestive of knee trouble.

X-rays are not very helpful because cartilage is soft and does not show up clearly on X-ray films. X-rays are helpful in ruling out fractures of the bones near the knee, or fractures of the kneecap.

Can a torn cartilage heal by itself?

Occasionally these torn cartilages seem to respond to long periods of rest, diathermy, heat and gentle exercise. Although the cartilages do not actually heal themselves, there can follow some relief from the pain, the swelling and limitations of motion of the knee joint.

When is an operation necessary?

When there is actual incapacitation from work or sports, one of the torn cartilages is removed by surgery. The operation is not a complicated one and is exceedingly safe. Convalescence is very rapid and recovery is usually complete in four to six weeks.

The return to full strenuous activity must not be hurried to prevent further injury to the one remaining cartilage.

Injuries to the muscles and ligaments around all the joints of the body deserve extreme care.

A general rule of safety is to have any severe bone injury examined immediately.

At the time of injury, keep the knee or injured part elevated and motionless. Apply ice packs to reduce the pain. Do not manipulate or massage the injured area.

Heroic and hasty treatment can be hazardous and can prolong the total recovery period.

Plastic bags are not children's toys. They are a household hazard, responsible for suffocation. Keep them out of the reach of children.

Give Voltaire His Due

By John Chamberlain

Yale University is getting a lot of publicity because Staughton Lynd, one of its assistant professors of history, took off to North Vietnam on a peace mission despite the State Department ban on travel to that country. Some of Yale's Old Blues are howling with pain because their university president, Kingman Brewster, has defended the right of any "sincere" professor to engage in extra-curricular political activity as long as it doesn't interfere with the integrity of his classroom work.

President Brewster's stand follows the well-known Voltairean prescription of letting anyone talk even though what is said may only add to the sum total of human nonsense. The Old Blues will not be pacified with this, for they make the point that Staughton Lynd has refused to abide by the laws of his nation. Whether Professor Lynd is guilty or not, however, will probably never be officially determined so long as the federal authorities refrain from accusing him of infringing passport regulations or violating the Logan Act by acting as an amateur diplomat in dealing with a foreign nation.

As a Voltairean, President Brewster might be accorded some praise for his neutral practice of harboring at least a few teachers who think Staughton Lynd is an unqualified disaster. The problem, from the anti-Lynd point of view, is getting the opposition to Lynd into the headlines. I know at least two liberal teachers at Yale who defend Lynd's right to go to Mississippi on a civil rights issue but think he was definitely out of bounds in going to Hanoi in defiance of the law. And I know of at least one knowledgeable individual at Yale who can tear Lynd to shreds on the subject of Southeast Asian realities. This person happens to be a native of South Vietnam, Huyuh Sanh Tong, who teaches the Vietnamese language to students who are enrolled in the Southeast Asian studies program.

Tong, at this moment in history, is extremely uneasy about what is going on in his native land. He distrusts the peace overtures. What bothers him is to see the adjective "non-Communist" cropping up as a descriptive term for some South Vietnamese functionaries who have recently come on the scene. Where "non-Communists" have replaced "anti-Communists" in the past, it has invariably been a harbinger of a sell-out to pro-Communists. Thus Tong is worried that Vu Van Thai, a "non-Communist," has replaced Tran Thien Khien, a stern anti-Communist, as South Vietnam's representative in Washington. He sees a second Dominican Republic fiasco threatening.

Another thing that bothers Tong is Washington's propensity to think in terms of an "indispensable" man in the effort to build a consciously democratic society in the South Vietnam countryside. He would like to know for sure that General Edward G. Lansdale, our "indispensable" exponent of democratic rule at the South Vietnamese grassroots, is proof against the blandishments of peace-makers who advocate a coalition with the Viet Cong in a post-war government. Tong wants to know how and why Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a firm anti-Communist, was offered a million dollar bribe to leave his own country. (Ky himself is the authority for reporting the bribe offer.)

According to Tong, the liberal "line" is being pushed in the United States that Premier Ky and two of his entourage, Nguyen Huu Co and Nguyen Van Thieu, are military men who have "no roots" in their own land. But as the late Marguerite Higgins made plain in her on-the-spot reporting, the overthrow of the Diem government robbed South Vietnam of what, in U.S. terms, would be the equivalent of the President, the Vice President, the cabinet, the Senate and House leaders, the principal governors and mayors, and all the chief politicians of both major political parties. After the assassination of Diem and the exile of his party, there was nobody left in South Vietnamese politics with "roots." Tong thinks the present South Vietnamese government has as much chance of growing roots as any other.

This view is what one teacher at Yale offers to counter what the Staughton Lynd clique has to say. It is a voice that should be heard if only to give Voltaire his due.

ume of output of goods and services advanced only about 5.5 per cent. The other 2 per cent was due to a rise in prices.

An expanding economy generates more tax revenue. So 1965's performance seems to confirm the assertion of many economists that the national income tax engine will generate $7 billion to $8 billion increase in revenue each year through 1970.

Why, then, is there talk in Washington of a possible income tax increase? The answer, of course, is the war in Viet Nam — and administration unwillingness to cut back on huge outlays for recently inaugurated domestic spending programs.

When she arrived, she didn't see another soul in the place, and demanded of the mournful looking gentleman guarding the door, "Isn't there an event scheduled here this afternoon?" "Are you a relative?" he countered. "A relative?" she replied. "Do I have to be a relative to bid on some furniture?" "My dear lady," the mournful gentleman told her, "the auction is next door. This is a funeral parlor."

Dr. Pullman, the society dentist, ordered a nervous patient, "Open wide," then announced, "You've got the biggest cavity I ever saw—the biggest cavity I ever saw." "You don't have to repeat it," grumbled the patient. "Who's repeating?" shrugged Doc Pullman. "You heard the echo."

OVERHEARD: (By Nancy Gruber) One tiger meeting another on Madison Avenue: "Where on earth have you been? You reek of gasoline!" Wise mother to her children cooped up in the house: "Go out into the sunlight, my dears. Beautiful weather lost is never found again!" Shapely lass seeking secretarial post: "I don't type very fast—but I can erase fifty words a minute."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why is the knee joint so easily injured in sports and accidents?

The knee is one of the most easily injured joints in the body because it is involved in almost all body activities. It almost always bears the weight of the body. All movements of the legs accompany some motion of the knee joint.

Two cartilages separate the thigh bone from one of the bones of the leg (tibia). These cartilages protect the knee from injury during walking, turning or twisting.

Is the knee cartilage the same as the kneecap?

No. They are two totally different structures. The kneecap, or patella, is a bone which lies in front of the knee and moves up and down with movement of the legs. The kneecap protects the joint, but also gives added strength to the muscles and ligaments of the legs and thigh.

What is meant by a locked knee?

After an accident, during which a knee cartilage is torn, there is a locked or restricted motion of the knee joint. Usually the leg is kept bent and can only be straightened with pain and difficulty. With injury it causes swelling of the knee and the inability to bear weight comfortably.

How is the diagnosis of a torn cartilage definitely established?

Examination of the knee joint, during rest and activity, is the only reliable means at our disposal. A history of a twisting accident, followed by a feeling of weakness when standing, and swelling and tenderness over the knee is very suggestive of knee trouble.

X-rays are not very helpful because cartilage is soft and does not show up clearly on X-ray films. X-rays are helpful in ruling out fractures of the bones near the knee, or fractures of the kneecap.

Can a torn cartilage heal by itself?

Occasionally these torn carti-

Give Voltaire His Due

By John Chamberlain

Yale University is getting a lot of publicity because Staughton Lynd, one of its assistant professors of history, took off to North Vietnam on a peace mission despite the State Department ban on travel to that country. Some of Yale's Old Blues are howling with pain because their university president, Kingman Brewster, has defended the right of any "sincere" professor to engage in extra-curricular political activity as long as it doesn't interfere with the integrity of his classroom work.

President Brewster's stand follows the well-known Voltairean prescription of letting anyone talk even though what is said may only add to the sum total of human nonsense. The Old Blues will not be pacified with this, for they make the point that Staughton Lynd has refused to abide by the laws of his nation. Whether Professor Lynd is guilty or not, however, will probably never be officially determined so long as the federal authorities refrain from accusing him of infringing passport regulations or violating the Logan Act by acting as an amateur diplomat in dealing with a foreign nation.

As a Voltairean, President Brewster might be accorded some praise for his neutral practice of harboring at least a few teachers who think Staughton Lynd is an unqualified disaster. The problem, from the anti-Lynd point of view, is getting the opposition to Lynd into the headlines. I know at least two liberal teachers at Yale who defend Lynd's right to go to Mississippi on a civil rights issue but think he was definitely out of bounds in going to Hanoi in defiance of the law. And I know of at least one knowledgeable individual at Yale who can tear Lynd to shreds on the subject of Southeast Asian realities. This person happens to be a native of South Vietnam, Huyuh Sanh Tong, who teaches the Vietnamese language to students who are enrolled in the Southeast Asian studies program.

Tong, at this moment in history, is extremely uneasy about what is going on in his native land. He distrusts the peace overtures. What bothers him is to see the adjective "non-Communist" cropping up as a descriptive term for some South Vietnamese functionaries who have recently come on the scene. Where "non-Communists" have replaced "anti-Communists" in the past, it has invariably been a harbinger of a sell-out to pro-Communists. Thus Tong is worried that Vu Van Thai, a "non-Communist," has replaced Tran Thien Khiem, a stern anti-Communist, as South Vietnam's representative in Washington. He sees a second Dominion Republic fiasco threatening.

Another thing that bothers Tong is Washington's propensity to think in terms of an "indispensable" man in the effort to build a consciously democratic society in the South Vietnamese countryside. He would like to know for sure that General Edward G. Lansdale, our "indispensable" exponent of democratic rule at the South Vietnamese grassroots, is proof against the blandishments of peace-makers who advocate a coalition with the Viet Cong in a post-war government. Tong wants to know how and why Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a firm anti-Communist, was offered a million dollar bribe to leave his own country. (Ky himself is the authority for reporting the bribe offer.)

According to Tong, the liberal "line" is being pushed in the United States that Premier Ky and two of his entourage, Nguyen Huu Co and Nguyen Van Thieu, are military men who have "no roots" in their own land. But as the late Marguerite Higgins made plain in her on-the-spot reporting, the overthrow of the Diem government robbed South Vietnam of what, in U.S. terms, would be the equivalent of the President, the Vice President, the cabinet, the Senate and House leaders, the principal governors and mayors, and all the chief politicians of both major political parties. After the assassination of Diem and the exile of his party, there was nobody left in South Vietnamese politics with "roots." Tong thinks the present South Vietnamese government has as much chance of growing roots as any other.

This view is what one teacher at Yale offers to counter what the Staughton Lynd clique has to say. It is a voice that should be heard if only to give Voltaire his due.

Elliot Crites of South Bloomfield is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Columbus. He suffered a broken hip in a fall. He is in room 148.

A Teen-age dance is being planned for Saturday in the shelterhouse at Community Park. Music will be provided by L. D. and the Exciters.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ward returned home Saturday after spending several weeks vacationing in Florida.

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple 366 held an installation of officers at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Installing officer was Helen Kuhlwein, with Francile Peters as grand senior and Marilyn Sabine grand manager.

Installed for the coming year were most excellent chief Joyce Gloyd, excellent senior Rosemary Plum, excellent junior Arlene Fortner, manager Judy Ross, secretary Jill Reese, treasurer Barbara Cummins, protector Diane Gaines; Guard Janet Cline, past chief Madge

Baum and musician Gladys Rush.

The degree staff with Eveline Zwayer as captain assisted in the work. All officers and staff members wore formal for the candlelight ceremony.

A past chief pin was presented to outgoing most excellent chief Madge Baum. The pin was a gift from the Temple.

Officers serving with Mrs. Baum for the past year presented her with a necklace with the Pythian Sister emblem on it.

There were six members of Majors Temple of Circleville present. Mrs. Garnet Reichelderfer, District deputy, offered remarks after the installation ceremony. Refreshments were served by Billie Campbell, Kathy Campbell and Francile Peters.

The next meeting will be Feb. 1. Hostesses will be Mona Trego, Sonia Seymour, Jean Perrell and Grace Reid.

Mrs. Herbert (Clara) Cummins is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Columbus, where she has been undergoing tests and treatment.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters will meet in the K of P Hall Jan. 27 at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses will be Helen Kuhlwein, Francile Peters, Gladys Rush and Mona Morrison.

The Bastian Funeral Home Ambulance made the following runs: Jan. 11 — Elliot Crites to Mercy Hospital; Mrs. Alpha Baumus, who suffered a cracked pelvic as the result of a fall to Mercy Hospital; Jan. 13 — Mrs. Addie Mithoff to the Figgat-Smith Rest Home in Circleville; Jan. 17 — Joe Hanks of Columbus and William Koehner of Delaware to Doctors Hospital following a construction accident.

Jerry Sabine suffered a severe ankle sprain while ice-skating Monday evening and will be confined to his home for the rest of the week.

Shirley Ann Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson, is now a licensed beautician at Todd's Beauty Salon in Columbus. She is working weekends and holidays while attending high school and will work full time this summer. After graduation in 1967 Miss Thompson plans to open her own beauty shop.

Mitchell Clay, a member of the Freshman Class at Ohio Northern University, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Clay.

Ohio's GOP OKs Its '66 State Ticket

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Republican organization sat back today to eye Democratic developments after having an easy time Thursday endorsing a state ticket for the GOP May primary.

The Republican Policy Committee merely tabbed all incumbents—the GOP holds all the top elective state offices—then turned to thornier discussions of candidates for the legislature from urban counties.

The committee session passed without the awaited and almost certain announcement by Gov. James A. Rhodes that he will seek nomination to be re-elected.

Thus Rhodes outwaited former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, the Democrat he routed from office in the 1962 election, in declaring his intentions. DiSalle finally said Thursday night he won't run.

Republican State Chairman John S. Andrews, asked about Rhodes' delay, smiling said: "He has been terribly busy."

"Jim has a very broad base of appeal," commented Andrews. "I do believe he has attracted support in those areas in which Democrats usually run much stronger than Republicans."

DiSalle later admitted any Democratic candidate will have "an uphill fight" against the governor.

Candidates for the May 3 primary have until Feb. 2 to get their nominating petitions circulated, a required number of signatures from sufficient counties, and filed with the secretary of state.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe filed his petitions Thursday, with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The policy committee, which recommends to the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, endorsed Rhodes, Saxbe, State Auditor Roger Cloud, Ted Brown, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, Supreme Court Judge Paul W. Brown and Supreme Court Judge Lois J. Schneider for re-election.

Also recommended was State Rep. Archer E. Reilly Jr. of Columbus for the November-January short term as state auditor which Cloud isn't seeking.

After calling for the nomination of those officials, Andrews called in chairman of Ohio's 11 most populous counties for a conference prior to a dinner at the Governor's Mansion.

At the closed-door session, they reviewed local candidates and campaign strategy. Their task is complicated by legislative reapportionment under which, for the first time, candi-

Lack of Birth Control Seen Bringing Global Cannibalism

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee has been warned that unless drastic birth control steps are taken the time may come when "men will have to kill and eat one another."

Four noted scientists agreed that delay could lead to consequences "disastrous for mankind and society."

They testified at the reopening of hearings by the government operations subcommittee, whose chairman, Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, said that in the seven months since hearings started last June the world's population has increased 35 million.

Dr. Albert Szent-yorgyi, one of the four Nobel laureates, quoted St. Howard Florey, discoverer of penicillin, as having said if the present population explosion continues there will be only one square yard available on the earth's surface for each human being in 600 years.

"If the acceleration of increase goes on," Szent-yorgyi testified, "this stage will be reached much sooner, and men will have to kill and eat one another."

The witnesses, led by Dr. E.L. Tatum, lined up in support of legislation by Gruening to authorize the government to coordinate and distribute birth control information here and abroad to those who ask it.

Tatum, 1958 Nobel Prize winner for medicine and physiology associated with the Rockefeller institute and Szent-yorgyi 1937 prize winner in medicine, now working at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., were backed by Dr. Rickenson W. Richards, Jr., of Columbia University, 1956 winner in medicine and physiology and Dr. Polykarp Kusch, also of the Columbia faculty and a 1955 winner in physics.

Rough Riders To Organize

Western 4-H Rough Riders will start the new year off with their first meeting scheduled, 7:30 p. m. January 24, in Walnut Twp. School.

Club enrollment qualifications permit boys and girls between the ages 9-21 may join. They must have a horse project by May 15 to be eligible. Horses do not have to be owned by members and may be leased or borrowed.

Trail rides and weekend campouts, plus a junior rodeo held at Fair time, are on the activities program.

Advisers are Dorwin Hay and Vaughn Dresbach.

Negroes Said Cool on Role In Viet War

NEW YORK (AP) — Julian Bond, the young Negro legislator denied his seat in the Georgia House of Representatives, said today he believes the majority of American Negroes have reservations about the war in Viet Nam.

"I believe without knowing," Bond said. "I haven't taken any poll, but I believe most Negroes have reservations about fighting overseas for something they don't always enjoy at home."

Bond, 26, communications director for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, spoke at a news conference here which he said he called to clear up some misunderstanding associated with his position.

The Georgia House refused to swear him in as one of eight Negro assemblymen on Jan. 10 for his support of an SNCC statement calling U.S. action in Viet Nam "aggression."

"The issue is not my views on Viet Nam," Bond said. "The issue is whether the people in my district have the right to elect someone to represent them without undergoing an attitude test by the Georgia House of Representatives."

Pythian Sisters Session Held, Committees Named

Pythian Sisters of Majors Temple No. 516 met Thursday evening in the K of P Lodge Hall. Mrs. Paula K. Strawser, most excellent chief conducted the session.

The following committees were appointed by Mrs. Strawser:

New Snow-Melting Systems Are Popular

By ELEANOR ROSS

Do you quake on sighting those gently falling flakes, dreading the very thought of shoveling snow?

If you are already busily engaged in that back-breaking chore, take heart. Your deliverance could be at hand, though it may be too late this season.

Steel-pipe snow-melting systems make shoveling as old-fashioned as the five-cent streetcar ride. They are becoming increasingly popular every winter and obviously save wear and tear on the shoveler.

In an "automatic" snow removal system, the steel pipe must be thoroughly imbedded in concrete or black-top. A typical installation has a three-quarter-inch pipe with 12-inch spacing placed at a depth of two inches below the wearing surface.

It can be installed on top of an existing driveway or walk, if it is possible to do a resurfacing job without tearing up the original construction.

As we know, 32 degrees F. is the freezing point, but it takes 40 degree F. temperature on the pavement face to melt ice and snow efficiently. In practice, these systems are usually designed to melt snow at the rate of one inch per hour.

We found that installing a snow melting system is not excessively expensive in relation to the benefits gained. The cost varies, depending upon local conditions — including the surface area and amount of snowfall to be expected. A 50-foot driveway might be equipped with a snow melting system for as little as the cost of putting in inlaid linoleum in two average-size rooms. The cost of operation averages from seven to 15 cents per thousand square feet per inch of snowfall.

The snow melting system should not be part of the house's regular heating system. However, by means of a heat-exchanger, it could use the same boiler as a source of heat. If the house is heated by a system that is neither steam nor hot water, a separate hot water boiler should be put in at a convenient location for the snow melting installation.

The system is generally filled with a solution of permanent type anti-freeze and water to prevent freezing. Special light oils may also be employed. The use of steel pipe in snow melting systems has a number of advantages. An efficient carrier and transmitter of heat, steel pipe withstands the normal effects of steam and hot water. Also it resists both shock and stress.

Properly installed, such snow melting system will give durable, reliable and economic service for many winters to come.

And how nice to sit in a comfortable, warm living room and watch the snow fall, making everything beautifully white except where the heavy, flaky stuff is unwanted.

Dear Abby: He's a Grasping Schemer

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law died over a year ago, and since then my husband insists on staying nights with his father — even on weekends. I know the old man isn't afraid to stay alone because I've heard him tell my husband he didn't need to stay. But my husband says we should not leave the old man alone because his loneliness might lead to a second marriage, which might complicate legal settlements later. Abby, is this fair to me and the children? I have tried to be a good sport, but I find myself harboring resentments. Should I not complain, and at the same time look forward to the time when his father dies (he is 67 and in good health) so we can be a family again?

WIDOW WITH A HUSBAND DEAR WIDOW: Of all the grasping, scheming, materialistic characters that have been brought to my attention, your husband takes the prize. Not only is he cheating you and the children, but he is cheating his father as well. If the gentleman (and he is not old at 67) has any interest in female companionship, he should be encouraged in it. Tell your husband to get on home where he belongs and to quit playing self-appointed guardian of his father's estate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy, 14, and my parents and I don't see eye to eye on my clothes. I have a long waist, and when they buy my pants, they get my waist size, but the can't get my leg size in the same pair of pants.

When I get a new pair of pants I look like a midshipman from the War of 1812. I ask my mother to peg them for me, but my father says, "No. Boys look like girls in pegged pants." Can you help me?

DISTRESSED DEAR DISTRESSED: You are helpless, but I have a few words for your mother: "Peg the boy's pants. Most boys look like girls today anyway."

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm making a mountain out of a molehill, but after being married to Jerry for only six months, one of his habits is really driving me out of my mind. When he sits down to eat (whether we are at home, dining out, or are guests in someone's home) the first thing that Jerry does is salt everything that requires seasoning, and I mean he salts it up, but good! Abby, he doesn't even TRY it first, he just pours the salt on. People look at him in disbelief. At the home of friends I'm sure they think there is something wrong with their food. Shouldn't he take a little taste first? And if he likes things saltier, add a bit more salt instead of doing it in these great broad gestures? Or am I wrong to criticize him?

JERRY'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: If your husband likes salt, he should be a little more subtle in applying it, especially when he's a dinner guest. And he should take a token taste first, even though he knows he's going to add more salt. His craving for salt may be embarrassing for you, but it could have more serious implications. Tell him to mention this to his physician.

Carpet Pieces Are Used for Many Purposes

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

The odd-size pieces that are left over when you have a wall-to-wall floor covering installed in your home can be magic carpets indeed.

Use them to cover a small wall area or a door. Frame one for a novel bulletin board.

Use them to make colorful inserts on paneled cabinet doors or screens. Apply one to the wall behind a bed and create a headboard effect.

They can be used on steps — either of stairs or of library ladders. They can also make eye-catching covering for shelves.

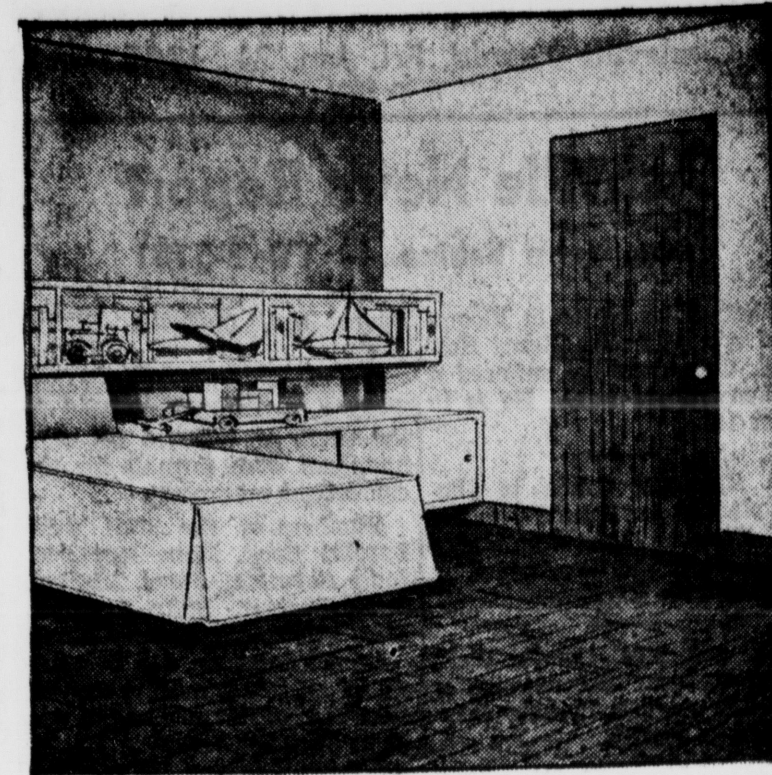

One of the gayest uses for leftover carpeting is to make animal cutouts and apply them to the walls of a nursery or playroom. Decorate the cutouts with felt features and the effect is charming, with sure-fire appeal for children.

Thanks to the emergence of man-made carpet fibers such as nylon, the selection of quality designs, colors and textures is virtually limitless today and the price for a wall-to-wall installation is within the range of most budgets.

If wall-to-wall is your choice — and it does dress up a room setting — remember to hang onto the leftover pieces and use them for decoration.

New Snow-Melting Systems Are Popular

By ELEANOR ROSS

Do you quake on sighting those gently falling flakes, dreading the very thought of shoveling snow?

If you are already busily engaged in that back-breaking chore, take heart. Your deliverance could be at hand, though it may be too late this season.

Steel-pipe snow-melting systems make shoveling as old-fashioned as the five-cent streetcar ride. They are becoming increasingly popular every winter and obviously save wear and tear on the shoveler.

In an "automatic" snow removal system, the steel pipe must be thoroughly imbedded in concrete or black-top. A typical installation has a three-quarter-inch pipe with 12-inch spacing placed at a depth of two inches below the wearing surface.

It can be installed on top of an existing driveway or walk, if it is possible to do a resurfacing job without tearing up the original construction.

As we know, 32 degrees F. is the freezing point, but it takes 40 degree F. temperature on the pavement face to melt ice and snow efficiently. In practice, these systems are usually designed to melt snow at the rate of one inch per hour.

We found that installing a snow melting system is not excessively expensive in relation to the benefits gained. The cost varies, depending upon local conditions — including the surface area and amount of snowfall to be expected. A 50-foot driveway might be equipped with a snow melting system for as little as the cost of putting in inlaid linoleum in two average-size rooms. The cost of operation averages from seven to 15 cents per thousand square feet per inch of snowfall.

The snow melting system should not be part of the house's regular heating system. However, by means of a heat exchanger, it could use the same boiler as a source of heat. If the house is heated by a system that is neither steam nor hot water, a separate hot water boiler should be put in at a convenient location for the snow melting installation.

The system is generally filled with a solution of permanent type anti-freeze and water to prevent freezing. Special light oils may also be employed. The use of steel pipe in snow melting systems has a number of advantages. An efficient carrier and transmitter of heat, steel pipe withstands the normal effects of steam and hot water. Also it resists both shock and stress.

Properly installed, such snow melting system will give durable, reliable and economic service for many winters to come.

The World Today

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his $4.8 billion of quickie tax boosters, President Johnson is trying to buy some time.

Even if Congress approves them by March 15, as he has asked, the maneuver won't rule out any general tax increase. That still could come, in 1967 or 1968.

It all depends on Viet Nam. What happens there—an escalation to full-fledged war, a negotiated peace, or some condition in between—"must be at the center of our concerns," as Johnson told Congress last week.

Even if the fighting does not escalate but merely continues at its present intensity long enough, Johnson eventually will have to ask for a boost in income and corporate tax rates. His three tax measures are only temporary revenue-raisers.

If the hostilities do escalate seriously, a general tax increase would come sooner.

In the happier event that the guns cease firing in Viet Nam, the three revenue measures would simply run their course. They represent no permanent burden on economic growth.

By contrast, higher tax rates—once written into the law books—would be harder to get rid of.

The White House proposals would restore the auto and telephone excise taxes to their pre-New Year's rates until 1968; provide a graduated scale of rates for income tax withholding; and bring large corporations to a pay-as-you-go tax basis in one year instead of five.

If the economy should falter, the excise rates could be cut again, virtually overnight. The corporate tax speed-up could again be stretched out. Any overwithholding of income tax would flow back to consumers as tax refunds at the end of the year.

But more probably, the three devices would serve a useful antiinflationary purpose in the period when "overheating" is a hazard—the months ahead when federal spending rolls up to a $112.8-billion-a-year rate.

Johnson thus would be enabled to make good his guns and butter pledge—his promise that the "Great Society" programs of education, health, welfare and manpower development will not be sacrificed to pay for arms or to curb inflation.

The restraining effect of the tax devices would begin to play out, presumably, at approximately the right time—the time when the big surge of defense contracts begins to subside.

If, instead, the fighting intensifies and the spending continues to rise sharply, Johnson still can turn to the potent and unused fiscal weapon, a general tax increase.

Some of his advisers are wishing right now that Johnson had the authority which President John F. Kennedy asked of Congress—standby power to raise or lower taxes temporarily, as needed to cope with slumps or inflationary booms.

Congress ignored Kennedy's plan, and Johnson is sure it would be a waste of breath to ask the lawmakers to relinquish any of their taxing power to the executive. But he asked once before that Congress streamline its tax-writing procedures for quick response to a presidential request for a temporary cut or increase.

His aides report that he is very likely to renew the request that Congress take such preparedness measures—after first providing the stop-gaps which, he says, are needed right now.

Lausche Raps Testimony by Hanoi Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D. Ohio, said today he is convinced that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should not and will not grant requests that three Americans who went to Hanoi be allowed to testify before the committee.

The requests, he said, were from Prof. Staughton Lynd of Yale University, speaking on behalf of himself and the U.S. Communist Party historian, Herbert Aptheker, and Thomas Hayden, a founder of Students for a Democratic Society.

"In going to Hanoi, they violated the laws of the United States," Lausche said.

A study of the background of these men, Lausche said, will emphasize the grave mistake that would be made by members of the committee in event it permits the three to appear before the committee.

Lausche said members of the Senate should not give tolerance to persons "who make statements hoping that the Communists of North Viet Nam would be victorious."

Double Life Brings Man New Trouble

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A Michigan man who left one family because of debts, then married an Ohio woman, has run into more financial difficulties and been put on probation.

Robert R. White was arrested last December for a traffic violation and police say a routine FBI fingerprint comparison disclosed his identity as Maurice Mallion.

Mallion had left his wife, Elaine, and the four children nine years ago. In the meantime, he married Norma Jean Roberts of Cincinnati, Ohio and they set up housekeeping in Mount Healthy, a Cincinnati suburb. That marriage resulted in three children.

Mallion, 37, pleaded guilty last Dec. 28 to desertion and non-support and was fined $100 and ordered to pay $185 in court costs.

On Tuesday he was placed on three years' probation and ordered to make restitution of about $20,000 to the Bureau of Social Aid for child support money spent on his first family.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Baron," last of ABC's four new series starting this week, is still another child of James Bond.

The first episode Thursday night never got around to explaining why an American named John Mannering is called "The Baron," but he is a handsome bachelor antiques dealer with a taste for Faberge bibelots, Lautrec sketches and a way of rewarding gorgeous girls who save his life by promising to buy them dinner.

Bond and "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." could both take suave lessons from him. He emerged well pressed and unruffled from a plot that contained everything from foreign intrigue to electronic gimmicks. But he's not a secret agent, just a fellow enlisted for a mission by Her Majesty's government—the show is a British import.

The Baron's assignment was to recover a golden Faberge sedan chair and it carried him into the People's Republic of Pamaranea behind the Iron Curtain where he encountered everything from attempted assassination to being framed for murder. But he got the Faberge back plus a priceless French snuff box stolen from the British Museum. This is one adventurer with real class.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Baron," last of ABC's four new series starting this week, is still another child of James Bond.

The first episode Thursday night never got around to explaining why an American named John Mannering is called "The Baron," but he is a handsome bachelor antiques dealer with a taste for Faberge bibelots, Lautrec sketches and a way of rewarding gorgeous girls who save his life by promising to buy him dinner.

But he got the Faberge back plus a priceless French snuff box stolen from the British Museum. This is one adventurer with real class.

As a matter of fact, if one isn't fed to the teeth with this sort of stuff now, "The Baron" is a good one of the genre.

The World Today

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his $4.8 billion of quickie tax boosters, President Johnson is trying to buy some time.

Even if Congress approves them by March 15, as he has asked, the maneuver won't rule out any general tax increase. That still could come, in 1967 or 1968.

It all depends on Viet Nam. What happens there—an escalation to full-fledged war, a negotiated peace, or some condition in between—"must be at the center of our concerns," as Johnson told Congress last week.

Even if the fighting does not escalate but merely continues at its present intensity long enough, Johnson eventually will have to ask for a boost in income and corporate tax rates. His three tax measures are only temporary revenue-raisers.

If the hostilities do escalate seriously, a general tax increase would come sooner.

In the happier event that the guns cease firing in Viet Nam, the three revenue measures would simply run their course. They represent no permanent burden on economic growth.

By contrast, higher tax rates—once written into the law books—would be harder to get rid of.

The White House proposals would restore the auto and telephone excise taxes to their pre-New Year's rates until 1968; provide a graduated scale of rates for income tax withholding; and bring large corporations to a pay-as-you-go tax basis in one year instead of five.

If the economy should falter, the excise rates could be cut again, virtually overnight. The corporate tax speed-up could again be stretched out. Any overwithholding of income tax would flow back to consumers as tax refunds at the end of the year.

But more probably, the three devices would serve a useful antiinflationary purpose in the period when "overheating" is a hazard — the months ahead when federal spending rolls up.

Lausche Raps Testimony by Hanoi Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said today he is convinced that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should not and will not grant requests that three Americans who went to Hanoi be allowed to testify before the committee.

The requests, he said, were from Prof. Staughton Lynd of Yale University, speaking on behalf of himself and the U.S. Communist Party historian, Herbert Aptheker, and Thomas Hayden, a founder of Students for a Democratic Society.

"In going to Hanoi, they violated the laws of the United States," Lausche said.

A study of the background of these men, Lausche said, will emphasize the grave mistake that would be made by members of the committee in event it permits the three to appear before the committee.

Lausche said members of the Senate should not give tolerance to persons "who make statements hoping that the Communists of North Viet Nam would be victorious."

Dr. Speakman Attends Management Meeting

Dr. William Speakman attended a practice management meeting of the Ohio State Optometric Assn.

Plans were formulated during the meeting for an assistant's program to be held at the annual convention in Cleveland. A committee was formed to assist graduating seniors at Ohio State University in a series of lectures from practicing optometrists.

Cincinnati Suburb To Get Apartments

CINCINNATI (AP) — A new 30-unit apartment building in suburban Reading, scheduled for occupancy next month, was struck by fire Thursday and officials estimated damage at $150,000. Cause of the fire was not known.

to a $112.8-billion-a-year rate.

Johnson thus would be enabled to make good his guns and butter pledge — his promise that the "Great Society" programs of education, health, welfare and manpower development will not be sacrificed to pay for arms or to curb inflation.

The restraining effect of the tax devices would begin to play out, presumably, at approximately the right time — the time when the big surge of defense contracts begins to subside.

If, instead, the fighting intensifies and the spending continues to rise sharply, Johnson still can turn to the potent and unused fiscal weapon, a general tax increase.

Some of his advisers are wishing right now that Johnson had the authority which President John F. Kennedy asked of Congress — standby power to raise or lower taxes temporarily, as needed to cope with slumps or inflationary booms.

Congress ignored Kennedy's plan, and Johnson is sure it would be a waste of breath to ask the lawmakers to relinquish any of their taxing power to the executive. But he asked once before that Congress streamline its tax-writing procedures for quick response to a presidential request for a temporary cut or increase.

His aides report that he is very likely to renew the request that Congress take such preparedness measures — after first providing the stop-gaps which, he says, are needed right now.

HST Handed Medicare's No. 1 Card

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry Truman got medicare card No. 1 personally from President Johnson Thursday; the President signed the application card as a witness.

"When the fellows at the Social Security office heard I was coming here they asked me to bring you your new medicare card," said Johnson.

Johnson signed the medicare bill in the same Truman Library auditorium, where he spoke today, July 30, 1965.

"No. 1 for you and No. 2 for Mrs. Truman," Johnson said. "You are getting the jump on the rest of the folks who won't get theirs until the end of the month."

Johnson said it was one more way of the American people telling Truman that they have not forgotten that it was he who proposed the medicare program in his administration.

The medicare program involving 19 million Americans begins on July 1.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Jan. 21, the 21st day of 1966. There are 344 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1907, Carrie Nation swung a hatchet in an attempt to wreck a saloon in Wichita, Kan. Her act dramatized a dry crusade that spread over the nation.

On this date: In 1824, Confederate Gen. Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson was born.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis withdrew from the U.S. Senate.

In 1930, the London Naval Conference opened.

In 1945, Russian troops invaded German Silesia, advancing to take Tannenberg, the German military shrine.

In 1954, the first atomic submarine, the Nautilus, was launched at Groton, Conn.

Ten years ago — The State Department denied a Communist China charge that thousands of Chinese in the United States were intimidated from returning to their homeland.

Five years ago — The West submitted a plan to Moscow to end the civil war in Laos by reviving the International Control Commission.

One year ago — Indonesia formally withdrew from the United Nations.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from teachings of the Baha'i Faith. "This is the basis of Baha'i belief: one God has given men one faith through progressive revelations of His will in each age of history, and Baha'u'llah reveals the will of God for men and women of the present age. This basic belief enables Baha'is to unite and work together in spite of different religious backgrounds.

"Men and women of all races are equal in the sight of God and equal in the Baha'i community. There is no superior race or superior nation."

City To Name Plants After Indian Villages

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — When officialdom wants to create a memorial to things past, it usually erects a plaque or builds a monument but not the Montgomery Water Works and Sewer Board.

The board has decided to name its three new sewage treatment plants after the three long-vanished Indian villages on the Alabama River — Towassa, Kulumi, and Econchate. The board supplied no translations. The present city sewage plant is named Catoma, which means "shining waters."

Future Spacemen Due To Talk Through Hats

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Future spacemen will be talking through their hats, says an electric firm. Tiny communications systems developed by Westinghouse will be built into astronaut's helmets.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The world is filled with the sound of many drums. Drums of militarism stir man to war and conquest. Drums of conformity invite him to keep step with low standards and false values. Drums of greed lure him into the killing pace of selfish getting and gaining.

But a different drum sounds, too. It beats in the rhythm of law and love, and rings with the sound of eternal truths. It beckons man to integrity and true self-fulfillment; it calls him to the path of duty and to the way of service. The different drum is God's.

A man must choose which drum he will listen for and follow. Many years ago, Henry David Thoreau wrote: "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer."

God's house is one place where you will hear the "Different Drummer." Worship there this Sunday with your family.

Today is Friday, Jan. 21, the 21st day of 1966. There are 344 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1907, Carrie Nation swung a hatchet in an attempt to wreck a saloon in Wichita, Kan. Her act dramatized a dry crusade that spread over the nation.

On this date

In 1824, Confederate Gen. Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson was born.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis withdrew from the U.S. Senate.

In 1930, the London Naval Conference opened.

In 1945, Russian troops invaded German Silesia, advancing to take Tannenberg, the German military shrine.

In 1954, the first atomic submarine, the Nautilus, was launched at Groton, Conn.

Ten years ago — The State Department denied a Communist China charge that thousands of Chinese in the United States were intimidated from returning to their homeland.

Five years ago — The West submitted a plan to Moscow to end the civil war in Laos by reviving the International Control Commission.

One year ago — Indonesia formally withdrew from the United Nations.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from teachings of the Baha'i Faith. "This is the basis of Baha'i belief: one God has given men one faith through progressive revelations of His will in each age of history, and Baha'ullah reveals the will of God for men and women of the present age. This basic belief enables Baha'is to unite and work together in spite of different religious backgrounds.

"Men and women of all races are equal in the sight of God and equal in the Baha'i community. There is no superior race or superior nation."

City To Name Plants After Indian Villages

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — When officialdom wants to create a memorial to things past, it usually erects a plaque or builds a monument but not the Montgomery Water Works and Sewer Board.

The board has decided to name its three new sewage treatment plants after the three long-vanished Indian villages on the Alabama River — Towassa, Kulumi, and Eonchate. The board supplied no translations. The present city sewage plant is named Catoma, which means "shining waters."

Future Spacemen Due To Talk Through Hats

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Future spacemen will be talking through their hats, says an electric firm. Tiny communications systems developed by Westinghouse will be built into astronaut's helmets.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The world is filled with the sound of many drums. Drums of militarism stir man to war and conquest. Drums of conformity invite him to keep step with low standards and false values. Drums of greed lure him into the killing pace of selfish getting and gaining.

But a different drum sounds, too. It beats in the rhythm of law and love, and rings with the sound of eternal truths. It beckons man to integrity and true self-fulfillment; it calls him to the path of duty and to the way of service. The different drum is God's.

A man must choose which drum he will listen for and follow. Many years ago, Henry David Thoreau wrote: "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer."

God's house is one place where you will hear the "Different Drummer." Worship there this Sunday with your family.

God Is Father

THE FATHERHOOD OF GOD COMFORTS AND STRENGTHENS BELIEVERS

Scripture—Hosea 11:1-4; Matthew 6:9, 11:25-30; Luke 15:11-24; John 14:1-11; II Corinthians 13:1, 4.

By R. H. RAMSEY

When we discuss the matter of God as Father, and pray to Him as our Heavenly Father, we are not acting upon a truth arrived at through philosophy, science or speculation, but a truth resting solidly upon the affirmations of the Scriptures. There are four major aspects of this Fatherhood of God. First, His natural Fatherhood of all men by nature as Creator and Maker. Second, His providential Fatherhood, especially in relation to Israel, which He has called "my son, my firstborn." Third, God is the Father of those who become His children through belief in Christ and regeneration by the Holy Spirit. Finally, there is the eternal Fatherhood of Jesus Christ, the Son.

The concept of God as Father of all mankind, because of their creation by Him, has been generally regarded as a New Testament doctrine. Actually, as in the case of most Christian beliefs, it began in the Old Testament.

and vengeance becomes a kind, loving, forgiving Father who draws His children to Him with cords of humanity and compassion and bonds of love. This idea of God as a loving Father became central to the Christian "good news."

Perhaps the best illustration of this is the parable of the Prodigal Son. Here, mankind is the son separated from God the Father by sin. God stands ready to welcome back to Himself all who are truly repentant. This is more than compassion. It is full and immediate reconciliation between God and man. Christ obtained this reconciliation for us and we experience it when we recover, through Him, full communion between God and man.

The first four verses of John 14, one of the greatest chapters of the Bible, set forth four profound truths: the certainty of God, Christ's equality with the Father, the reality of heaven as our eternal home, and the future return of Jesus Christ.

In a great threefold description

GOLDEN TEXT

"But now, O Lord, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we are all the work of thy hand."
—Isaiah 64:8.

tament where we find God's love for His child Israel shown, from the beginning, by His mighty works and the preservation of His people. This nation was chosen to be the recipient of God's revelation through scripture, to be continually called to obedience by the prophets, and finally to be the people among whom God would become incarnate in the person of His Son.

In spite of all God's love, Israel departed again and again from His worship and was punished. Yet even the retribution was tempered with mercy, compassion and God's Fatherly love.

The idea of God as Father goes much further in the teachings of Christ. We are encouraged to pray to God the Father, assured that our prayers will be answered. We are encouraged to confess our sins to God the Father, assured that if we are truly repentant, our transgressions will be forgiven.

In the New Testament we find the Hebrew's God of wrath based on copyrighted outlines produced by the National Council of Churches of Christ

tion of Himself, Christ declares He is the way, the truth, and the life. He is the source and the foundation of all the great acts of God; He is the only way, the divine way to God, for "no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

In verses 9 to 11 we find these startlingly direct statements: "he that hath seen me hath seen the Father" and "I am in the Father, and the Father in me." So we look upon Christ and see all we need to know about God, God's eternal way and His will, God's eternal truth that guides us, God's eternal life imparted to us.

The short opening passage from Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians is a fitting climax to this lesson on God as Father, for it suggests yet another paternal facet of God, that of comfort. God gives comfort and consolation to those in need that they, in turn, might comfort and console others, whatever the affliction they may be suffering.

'Concentration Camp' For Dogs Said Uncovered

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A junkyard where state police and United States Humane Society officials found 103 dogs destined for sale to research centers was described here as "a Dachau concentration camp for dogs."

"There were two dogs crammed into a small chicken coop and they couldn't walk when we freed them," said Frank J. McMahon, director of field services for the society, who led state police on the raid Wednesday.

Lester J. Brown was arrested and charged with 29 counts of cruelty to animals. He was freed in $1,500 bail. "We found a dog frozen to death in a box," said State Police Capt. Thomas S. Smith. "We tried to pull him out, but he was chained in the box."

McMahon said his Washington, D.C., office has been investigating Brown's operation "for the last five years."

He said Brown was a dealer in dogs, selling them to various institutions for research. About 28 dogs were removed by the society, but the raid was too late for one of the animals, which had just died. The others were very emaciated, said McMahon.

Capt. Smith said today the remaining dogs had to be left at the junkyard. "There's nothing under the law we could do to remove them, because they were not sick," he said.

Police said McMahon said the dogs had been poorly fed on chopped and frozen cattle entrails, and there was inadequate water.

McMahon said the raid was part of a nationwide crackdown on dog dealers. He said dealing in dogs was a $50-million annual business.

Mt. Pleasant Methodist church, located seven miles west of Circleville on Route 138 has scheduled special services called "Eight Nights For Christ," beginning 7:30 p. m. Sunday and continuing through January 23.

The Rev. W. H. McComas of Russell, Ky., will be the speaker each evening. He served several Methodist churches before entering the field of evangelism.

Special music will be presented daily. Every one is invited to attend these services, according to the pastor, the Rev. Foster H. Jenne.

God Is Father

THE FATHERHOOD OF GOD COMFORTS AND STRENGTHENS BELIEVERS

Scripture—Hosea 11:1-4; Matthew 6:9, 11:25-30; Luke 15:11-24; John 14:1-11; 11 Corinthians 13:4.

By R. H. RAMSEY

When we discuss the matter of God as Father, and pray to Him as our Heavenly Father, we are not acting upon a truth arrived at through philosophy, science or speculation, but a truth resting solidly upon the affirmations of the Scriptures. There are four major aspects of this Fatherhood of God. First, His natural Fatherhood of all men by nature as Creator and Maker. Second, His providential Fatherhood, especially in relation to Israel, which He has called "my son, my firstborn." Third, God is the Father of those who become His children through belief in Christ and regeneration by the Holy Spirit. Finally, there is the eternal Fatherhood of Jesus Christ, the Son.

The concept of God as Father of all mankind, because of their creation by Him, has been generally regarded as a New Testament doctrine. Actually, as in the case of most Christian beliefs, it began in the Old Testament.

GOLDEN TEXT

"But now, O Lord, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we are all the work of thy hand."
—Isaiah 64:8.

tament where we find God's love for His child Israel shown, from the beginning, by His mighty works and the preservation of His people. This nation was chosen to be the recipient of God's revelation through scripture, to be continually called to obedience by the prophets, and finally to be the people among whom God would become incarnate in the person of His Son.

In spite of all God's love, Israel departed again and again from His worship and was punished. Yet even the retribution was tempered with mercy, compassion and God's Fatherly love.

The idea of God as Father goes much further in the teachings of Christ. We are encouraged to pray to God the Father, assured that our prayers will be answered. We are encouraged to confess our sins to God the Father, assured that if we are truly repentant, our transgressions will be forgiven.

In the New Testament we find the Hebrew's God of wrath

tion of Himself, Christ declares He is the way, the truth, and the life. He is the source and the foundation of all the great acts of God; He is the only way, the divine way to God, for "no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

In verses 9 to 11 we find these startlingly direct statements: "he that hath seen me hath seen the Father" and "I am in the Father, and the Father in me." So we look upon Christ and see all we need to know about God, God's eternal way and His will, God's eternal truth that guides us, God's eternal life imparted to us.

The short opening passage from Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians is a fitting climax to this lesson on God as Father, for it suggests yet another paternal facet of God, that of comforter. God gives comfort and consolation to those in need that they, in turn, might comfort and console others, whatever the affliction they may be suffering.

'Concentration Camp' For Dogs Said Uncovered

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A junkyard where state police and United States Humane Society officials found 103 dogs destined for sale to research centers was described here as "a Dachau concentration camp for dogs."

"There were two dogs crammed into a small chicken coop and they couldn't walk when we freed them," said Frank J. McMahon, director of field services for the society, who led state police on the raid Wednesday.

Lester J. Brown was arrested and charged with 29 counts of cruelty to animals. He was freed in $1,500 bail. "We found a dog frozen to death in a box," said State Police Capt. Thomas S. Smith. "We tried to pull him out, but he was chained in the box."

McMahon said his Washington, D.C., office has been investigating Brown's operation "for the last five years."

He said Brown was a dealer in dogs, selling them to various institutions for research. About 28 dogs were removed by the society, but the raid was too late for one of the animals, which had just died. The others were very emaciated, said McMahon.

Capt. Smith said today the remaining dogs had to be left at the junkyard. "There's nothing under the law we could do to remove them, because they were not sick," he said.

Police said McMahon said the dogs had been poorly fed on chopped and frozen cattle entrails, and there was inadequate water.

McMahon said the raid was part of a nationwide crackdown on dog dealers. He said dealing in dogs was a $50-million annual business.

CHS Triple Trio Seniors Honored

By CAROLYN LEIST

The Red and Black staff this week is honoring the senior members of the Triple Trio. Senior members of this vocal music group are Susie Linn, Connie Carter and Christine Zehner. The group sings at various club meetings, school assemblies and takes part in adjudications.

Following is a rundown on

People Differ Very Little

By KATHY EDGINGTON

People of ancient worlds did not know, visit, or communicate with other lands. Each was populated by groups that were afraid of the unknown or unusual. It was natural, therefore, that these ancient peoples should use weapons when they had to venture toward strange lands.

As time passed, fighting and warfare became necessary to the wandering man. The weapons were not merely used as a source of protection, but as a source of gaining food and later land. What has happened to the nations while they seek the position of victory? Surely people of ancient times desired happiness and peace as well as security. Today's world stresses strength, a strength that seems to lead to endless war.

But people remain basically the same in their psychological needs — desiring happiness, peace and security-but with honor.

Sloppy Joe Recipe Given

By BRENDA DOWNING

There have been several requests to print the cafeteria's recipe for Sloppy Joes. So those who work in the kitchens at home, here's your chance to try something new.

1 lb. of hamburger
1/4 cup of dried onions
1/4 cup of brown sugar
1 can of tomato paste
1/4 cup of flour
tsp. of salt

Brown the hamburger with the dried onion, salt, and pepper. After it is brown, add the flour, then the paste, and then the brown sugar. Let it cook slowly on low heat for about an hour and a half.

Pat McFarland, Carolyn Leist and Nancy Walisa were in charge of the paper this week.

each of the senior members.

Susie likes singing and boys, and dislikes mathematics. Phys. Ed. and Chemistry Lab are her favorite classes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Linn, Route 3.

She sings alto in the high school choir. This is her first year in triple trio, but her fourth in choir.

Enrolled in the classical course, she hopes to go on to nurses' training at Grant Hospital.

Her school activities include SOS and GAA. She attends the Methodist Church.

When asked to make a comment on this being her senior year, she replied, "My senior year has been the best year since I have been in high school. I would like to give the juniors a bit of good advice. Don't get 'senioritis' too soon next year. Make the best of your last year because after that you're on your own."

Connie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Carter, she sings alto in Triple Trio. She resides at 665 Garden Parkway. This is her second year in Choir, but her first as a part of the Trio.

This is her third year at CHS. She came here from Tennessee in her sophomore year. Enrolled in the classical course, she plans to attend David Lipscomb College of Liberal Arts in Tennessee.

Among her activities are EMS, Senior SOS, and Drama Clubs. Cooking and sewing are her hobbies. "Johnny", Volkswagen, southern fried chicken and the Beatles are some of her likes. A few of her dislikes are physics and physics lab, the Rolling Stones, and Mondays.

By PAT MCFARLAND

That cute Christine has been in Triple Trio for four years and sings first soprano. Chris lives with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Zehner at 131 E. Mound St.

She is a very active student this year. She is in GAA, current callers, Pep Club and cheerleading. She is also in the Lutheran Church Choir and plans to sing a solo in adjudications competition. Chris is in the classical course.

Her likes include: singing, all sports, food and sleep (of which she gets very little). Her one dislike is people who do not take full advantage of things offered to them in high school — especially sports activities.

After graduation she plans to go to Capital University and major in elementary education and she will also continue with voice in college.

New Students Interviewed

By BARB GRIFFITH

Most of our "new students" are feeling very much at home at CHS by now. One example is pretty blue-eyed, blonde-haired Rachel Mallot.

Rachel is a 17-year-old junior enrolled in the commercial course. She comes to CHS from Westfall High School.

She feels the subjects are

RACHEL MALLOT

hard, but likes CHS students and sports, and thinks CHS is a nice school.

Rachel likes motorcycles, pizza, and the color blue. One of her main dislikes is "go-go boots."

She attends the First Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Her hobbies are dancing and motorcycling. In fact, wherever you see a motorcycle, you're bound to see Rachel there, too, smiling happily.

By SANDY CRABTREE

"I think Circleville High School is great and the students are friendly," says Mary Gates.

Mary resides at 290 Lewis Road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates; two brothers, Bill and Jim; and one sister, Sharon.

Mary, a freshman, at the age of 15, is enrolled in the home economics course. Mary's favorite subject is home economics.

Among Mary's likes are food, long hair, "The Shandells", a boy, and football games. Mary's dislikes are homework, tests, and conceited people. Mary attends the St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Sports Briefs

By SAM STANLEY

Saturday night again saw the Tigers of Circleville go down in defeat against a rugged Lancaster squad. Every member of the Gales' first string is in the six-foot column while Circleville has only one on the whole team. Lancaster shot 90 times and hit on 36 for an average of 40 per cent.

Circleville shot 63 times and connected on only 22 for less than 35 per cent. The only department in which the Tigers led was free throws. The Tigers hit 19 of 26 while the Gales hit 18 of 28.

Jim Diltz led Circleville with 20 points throughout. He was held to two in the first half and 18 in the second.

Circleville's record is two wins and eight losses. Tonight the second round of SCOL play begins as the Tigers travel to Greenfield. Saturday will be at home with Westfall.

Last Friday afternoon, in the Circleville gymnasium, the last home wrestling meet was held. The meet was with Groveport. Circleville was defeated by a score of 27-16.

The only winners from Circleville were Ron Miller with a pin, Jim Archer with a decision, and Tom Fletcher with a decisions.

Tomorrow our matmen travel to Groveport for the Groveport invitational. Among the schools represented will be Groveport, Newark, Hamilton Township, and Circleville.

We need supporters, so everyone get out and urge your team to victory. If you can't attend the meet, be out in front of the gym at eleven o'clock Saturday morning to see the team off. If you are planning on attending, you can leave up to an hour and a half later and still be there in time. The wrestlers must be there early in order to have time to weigh in.

CHS Club News

By NANCY PECK and TAMALA WILKINS

Stooge Club members have purchased trophies for last year's "all league" tracksters. They have made plans to show films at Atwater and S. Court St. schools for the students there. Jeff Steele, Lynn Heath, Bob Tootle and Dick Thornton have just finished their probationary period and are now full members of the club.

Each EMS member is assigned to a teacher, to check out any material that could be used for in "Hairs From the Tigers' Tail."

Senior SOS' annual Sweetheart Dance is coming up on Jan. 29. The theme this year is "The Sound of Music." Dance committees are: decoration, Kay MacDonald, Susie Bennett, Joyce Quinzel, Diana Tracy, Melinda Anderson, Jane Mader, Janice Imler, Gloria Schlegler and Regina Parsons; food, Linda Rhymer, Lynn Rickey, Sandy White, Alice Isaac, Candy Dawson, Susan Butz and Linn Cook; favors, Elias Evans, Liz Anderson, Carol Spangler, Bev Boltenhouse, Judy Moats, Sue Johnson and Tamala Wilkins; programs, Lyne Hughes, Ann Spicer, Linda Dean, Chris Ebert, Diana Tracy and Susie Sowers; tables and chairs, Mary Mader, Marsha Brobst, Joy Sower, Vickie Bray, Charlene Flaker, Joyce Valentine and Shirley Thomas; tickets, Linda Bowers and Teresa Conley. All Senior SOS members have tickets for sale.

Senior GAA is making preparations for a Spring Swing to be held early in April.

Next Hi-Y meeting will be on Jan. 27, at 7 p. m., in room 104. All present members are to pay their second semester dues at the meeting. All prospective members are to attend this meeting also.

All Hi-Y members have been assigned a club committee. Each member is to carry on his responsibility through his committee.

The Hi-Y will be guarding the doors at the Hillsboro home basketball game.

Next Science Club meeting will be on Jan. 25, at 7:30 in room 103. A guest speaker has been invited and a program will be presented. All members are urged to attend.

Teachers of the Week

By JILL ROBERTSON

One of this week's new teachers is Mrs. Phyllis Martin. Mrs. Martin is a sixth grade teacher at S. Court Street. She and her family moved to Circleville this past summer from Charleston, W. Va. She taught school in Charleston for six years.

Mrs. Martin has a BS degree for Morris Harvey College in Charleston. She has also done graduate work at Marshall University in Huntington.

Mrs. Martin and family reside at 1057 Georgia Road. Her husband, Mr. Arnold Martin, is employed by Owens Illinois Forest Product Division in Circleville. The Martins have two children, Pam and Arnold Jr. both are students at CHS.

She likes reading, music and to travel. Dislikes snowstorms, flat tires and snakes.

Mrs. Martin's philosophy of teaching is: "Each child is an individual. We as teachers must take them where we find them and develop them to their maximum capacity, and try to instill in each child a desire for knowledge and wisdom. Then we must provide the proper guidance for fulfilling these desires."

Mrs. Howell, one of the new teachers at S. Court St. School, comes from Charleston, W. Va. She majored in social studies at Morris Harvey University in Charleston.

Mrs. Howell teaches fifth grade and says they are the easiest, most delightful children she has ever taught in her 14 years experience.

She has no special hobbies or interests but she did admit that she used to be quite good at playing bridge.

Mrs. Howell's husband is associated with Owens Illinois. They have two daughters, Sondra and Barbra, both married. Mrs. Howell believes that teaching gives one an opportunity to help the children develop into good citizens; well rounded both physically and mentally."

Reflections Of a Senior

By JOYCE QUINCEL and BARB MACKENZIE

It's funny how four years of high school can go by so quickly. It's just here and gone. Now, the seniors are beginning to realize that graduation is coming closer as the first semester of the 1965-66 school year comes to a close. It makes some seniors sad and it makes others happy. It's just so hard for them to believe that it's finally their turn to step up and get their diplomas.

Before long senior girls will start wearing their safety pins to mark off the days until graduation. As the days go by, the safety pins will become fewer and graduation will come closer.

The "lasts" are coming up fast and will soon be gone forever except in memories.

This month the seniors will attend their last Sweetheart Dance. Then in April they will attend "their" Junior - Senior Prom.

This week the seniors wrote out their class wills for the "Tiger Tails". The senior class play will be started within the next month. Seniors are also looking forward to their tour of Du Pont.

Soon spring fever will strike! The seniors will then really feel superior to the underclassmen. They will be honored at the annual Senior Awards assembly and at the SOS Mother-Daughter Banquet and the GAA Father - Daughter Banquet. Many seniors will fight tears as they relinquish their club offices to the Juniors.

The boys now participating in sports will receive recognition at the Annual Winter Sports Banquet.

Then in May, the seniors will take their last final exams, attend senior dinners and have baccalaureate and commencement practice. Then it will all be over. The four wonderful years will be gone and a new life will await every senior.

The Red and Black staff this week is honoring the senior members of the Triple Trio. Senior members of this vocal music group are Susie Linn, Connie Carter and Christine Zehner. The group sings at various club meetings, school assemblies and takes part in adjudications.

Following is a rundown on

People Differ Very Little

By KATHY EDGINGTON

People of ancient worlds did not know, visit, or communicate with other lands. Each was populated by groups that were afraid of the unknown or unusual. It was natural, therefore, that these ancient peoples should use weapons when they had to venture toward strange lands.

As time passed, fighting and warfare became necessary to the wandering man. The weapons were not merely used as a source of protection, but as a source of gaining food and later land. What has happened to the nations while they seek the position of victory? Surely people of ancient times desired happiness and peace as well as security. Today's world stresses strength, a strength that seems to lead to endless war.

But people remain basically the same in their psychological needs — desiring happiness, peace and security—but with honor.

Sloppy Joe Recipe Given

By BRENDA DOWLING

There have been several requests to print the cafeteria's recipe for Sloppy Joes. So those who work in the kitchens at home, here's your chance to try something new.

1 lb. of hamburger
3/4 cup of dried onions
3/4 cup of brown sugar
1 can of tomato paste
3/4 cup of flour
tsp. of salt

Brown the hamburger with the dried onion, salt, and pepper. After it is brown, add the flour, then the paste, and then the brown sugar. Let it cook slowly on low heat for about an hour and a half.

Pat McFarland, Carolyn Leist and Nancy Walisa were in charge of the paper this week.

New Students Interviewed

By BARB GRIFFITH

Most of our "new students" are feeling very much at home at CHS by now. One example is pretty blue-eyed, blonde-haired Rachel Mallot.

Rachel is a 17-year-old junior enrolled in the commercial course. She comes to CHS from Westfall High School. She feels the subjects are hard, but likes CHS students and sports, and thinks CHS is a nice school.

Rachel likes motorcycles, pizza, and the color blue. One of her main dislikes is "go-go boots."

She attends the First Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Her hobbies are dancing and motorcycling. In fact, wherever you see a motorcycle, you're bound to see Rachel there, too, smiling happily.

"I think Circleville High School is great and the students are friendly," says Mary Gates.

Mary resides at 290 Lewis Road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gates; two brothers, Bill and Jim; and one sister, Sharon.

Mary, a freshman, at the age of 15, is enrolled in the home economics course. Mary's favorite subject is home economics.

Among Mary's likes are food, long hair, "The Shandells", a boy, and football games. Mary's dislikes are homework, tests, and conceited people.

Mary attends the St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Sports Briefs

By SAM STANLEY

Saturday night again saw the Tigers of Circleville go down in defeat against a rugged Lancaster squad. Every member of the Gales' first string is in the six-foot column, while Circleville has only one on the whole team. Lancaster shot 90 times and hit on 36 for an average of 40 per cent.

Circleville shot 63 times and connected on only 22 for less than 35 per cent. The only department in which the Tigers led was free throws. The Tigers hit 19 of 26 while the Gales hit 18 of 28.

Jim Diltz led Circleville with 20 points throughout. He was held to two in the first half and 18 in the second.

Circleville's record is two wins and eight losses. Tonight the second round of SCOL play begins as the Tigers travel to Greenfield. Saturday will be at home with Westfall.

Last Friday afternoon, in the Circleville gymnasium, the last home wrestling meet was held. The meet was with Groveport. Circleville was defeated by a score of 27-16.

The only winners from Circleville were Ron Miller with a pin, Jim Archer with a decision, and Tom Fletcher with a decision.

Tomorrow our matmen travel to Groveport for the Groveport invitational. Among the schools represented will be Groveport, Newark, Hamilton Township, and Circleville.

We need supporters, so everyone get out and urge your team to victory. If you can't attend the meet, be out in front of the gym at eleven o'clock Saturday morning to see the team off. If you are planning on attending, you can leave up to an hour and a half later and still be there in time. The wrestlers must be there early in order to have time to weigh in.

CHS Club News

By NANCY PECK and TAMALA WILKINS

Stooge Club members have purchased trophies for last year's "all league" tracksters. They have made plans to show films at Atwater and S. Court St. schools for the students there. Jeff Steele, Lynn Heath, Bob Tootle and Dick Thornton have just finished their probationary period and are now fullpledged of the club.

Each EMS member is assigned to a teacher, to check out any material that could be used for in "Hairs From the Tigers' Tail."

Senior SOS' annual Sweetheart Dance is coming up on Jan. 29. The theme this year is "The Sound of Music." Dance committees are: decoration, Kay MacDonald, Susie Bennett, Joyce Quincel, Diana Tracy, Melinda Anderson, Jane Mader, Janice Imler, Gloria Schlegler and Regina Parcells; food, Linda Rhymer, Lynn Rickey, Sandy White, Alice Isaac, Candy Dawson, Susan Butz and Linn Cook; favors, Elias Evans, Liz Anderson, Carol Spangler, Bev Boltenhouse, Judy Moats, Sue Johnson and Tamala Wilkins; programs, Lynne Hughes, Ann Spicer, Linda Dean, Chris Ebert, Diana Tracy and Susie Sowers; tables and chairs, Mary Mader, Marsha Brobst, Joy Sawyer, Vickie Bray, Charlene Flaker, Joyce Valentine and Shirley Thomas; tickets, Linda Bowers and Teresa Conley. All Senior SOS members have tickets for sale.

Senior GAA is making preparations for a Spring Swing to be held early in April.

Foul Shooting Contest Set For Jr. High

A foul shooting contest, held each year in conjunction with the Pickaway County Junior High cage tournament, is slated to get under way 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at Walnut School.

Each school is permitted one contestant in the foul shooting event. Participants take five practice shots in preparation for the 25 attempts they get in competition.

In addition, the John McPherson Memorial Trophy will be awarded to the outstanding player of the tournament.

Games tomorrow afternoon are between Pickaway and Washington at 1:30 p. m. and Slatereck and Walnut at 2:45 p. m.

The evening session pits Jackson and Scioto at 7 p. m. and Ashville and Monroe at 8:15 p. m.

3 Conferences Are Paced by Surprise 5s

Michigan State, Nebraska, Tulsa Take Loop Leads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan State, Nebraska and Tulsa are the surprise teams in college basketball at the halfway mark of the season.

Unbeaten Kentucky, with a 12-game winning streak that has elevated the Wildcats into the No. 2 spot behind top-ranked Duke in The Associated Press poll, has been a surprise, too, but at least the Wildcats received a few votes in the pre-season AP poll.

Michigan State, Nebraska and Tulsa didn't get a single vote in the pre-season poll, yet today the Spartans, Cornhuskers and Turricanes are in first place in three of the toughest conferences.

The Spartans share the top rung in the Big Ten with Michigan, but the Huskers are undisputed leaders in the Big Eight and the Hurricanes are all alone at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Michigan State, under its new coach, John Benington, has compiled the biggest form reversal.

The Spartans finished last in the Big Ten a year ago with a dismal 1-13 mark and 5-18 overall. Today they are 3-0 in league play and 10-3 over-all. Stan Musial understood the meaning of practice and he developed himself into a great hitter.

Williams, who retired in 1960 with a .344 lifetime average and 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Red Sox, polled a record 282 votes, or 93.8 per cent of the total, in balloting by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Williams was ignored on only 20 ballots despite his feud with many sports writers. It was a runaway in his first year of eligibility for the Hall of Fame.

Red Ruffing, who won 273 games in 22 years with the Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox, suffered a second straight disappointment. Runner-up to Luke Appling in a runoff election in 1964, Ruffing received 208 votes, 18 shy of the 75 per cent required for election.

Roy Campanella was third Illinois 74-72. Both were home-court victories.

Only two major games were played Thursday night as mid-year exams called a virtual halt to competition. Virginia Tech boosted its record to 12-2 by defeating East Carolina 83-64 and Bowling Green edged Northern

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Fri. Jan. 21, 1966 11
Circleville, Ohio

Palmer, Casper, Lema Making Bids in Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and Billy Casper made their bid for the second-round lead in the $104,500 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament today playing the course which produced the low scores for the first 18 holes.

All three were in position to move in front as they toured the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course where Al Geiberger shot a 68 on Thursday to grab the lead.

Four others had 69s but moved today to rugged Pebble Beach.

Palmer and Lema fashioned two-under-par 70s over the Cypress Point course, generally figured a couple of strokes tougher than Monterey Peninsula, and Casper had a 71. Palmer and Casper already are winners this year — Arnie at Los Angeles and Casper in his home town of San Diego.

In runner-up spots going into the second round were Californians Ken Towns of San Jose, Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs and Lee Raymond of Redwood City plus Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City.

Geiberger isn't awed by Pebble Beach. In 1964, when he finished fourth in the Crosby, he shot a 73 on a windy, final day after opening the tournament with an 80. He followed with a 68 and 67.

Walker Cup amateur Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., playing with a handicap of five strokes, helped his pro partner Gay Brewer by 14 as they carded a best-ball 60 to lead the pro-amateur division. Brewer shot a 74, but on the five holes where he had handicap strokes, Morey recorded a natural birdie and four pars which went down on the score card as an eagle and four birds because of the handicap strokes.

Among five teams tied for second at 62 were Al Bessellink and Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale. Left-hander Sandy Koufax of the world baseball champions helped his partner, Ken Still, with eight strokes for a 63.

Brilliant sunshine greeted the Crosby and brought out a gallery of 25,000, largest ever for an opening day.

Jack Nicklaus, despite going over par on two of the final three holes, hit a 73 at Cypress Point in his first competitive outing of this year.

Bill Ogden had mixed emotions. He sank a hole-in-one on the 155-yard third hole at Monterey and seemed headed for a great score until the final three holes. On those the veteran pro from Tucson, Ariz., lost four strokes to par and finished at 72.

Williams Calls Baseball Most Rigorous of Sports

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, the 103rd member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, claims that the game requires more practice and concentration than any other sport.

Williams, a noted fisherman and a part-time golfer in recent years, emphasized the rigors on the road to baseball stardom Thursday after his landslide election to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

"Baseball takes more hours of practice and concentration than any other sport," the former Boston Red Sox slugger said. "No other sport requires as much practice. There are no short cuts in baseball."

Williams believes his natural ability "has been overrated and overstressed."

"Baseball is a lot more than natural ability," he said. "I had baseball sense, but you need guidance to know what to do and how to develop your ability. And you've got to work. Stan Musial understood the meaning of practice and he developed himself into a great hitter."

Williams, who retired in 1960 with a .344 lifetime average and 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Red Sox, polled a record 282 votes, or 93.8 per cent of the total, in balloting by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Junior High Romps to 44-27 Win

Every member of the Circleville Junior High basketball team broke into the scoring column Thursday as the locals defeated visiting Washington Twp. 44-27.

Junior High coach Don Dawson started a team composed mostly of seventh graders who have not seen much action this year. Although they led most of the game, they were behind, 13-12 at halftime.

Beginning the second half, he put his starting five in the tilt. During a four minute span, they outscored the hosts, 25-4, and Dawson took them out of the game.

Tuesday, the junior high travels to Lancaster Ewing.

Detroit Keeps Pin Tourny Lead

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bob Strampe of Detroit retained his lead in the 25th annual National All-Star Bowling Tournament Thursday but his margin was cut to 48 pins by young Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis.

Burton hammered out a 1,096 score to take over second place.

The St. Louis bowler fired games of 189, 172, 248, 241, 246 as the field of 432 men completed two-thirds of the 15-game preliminary.

After today's third round, the 216 men who survive the first cut will roll another 15 games, with 72 advancing to the semifinals.

Strampe, who won the All-Star title in 1964, shot 1,057 Thursday for a 2,272 total after 10 games.

Rams Chief Cracks A 'Bear' Joke

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams owner Dan Reeves got a turn at cracking the contract whip Thursday but he used it to tickle the funny-bone of Pittsburgh Steelers President Art J. Rooney.

A Rams aide said Rooney phoned Reeves to announce he had hired away Rams line coach Bill Austin to be the new Steeler head coach.

"Why, we have Austin under contract," Reeves said, trying to assume the tone of Chicago Bear owner George Halas. "I'm not sure we can let him go."

Reeves played a waiting game for about 30 seconds, then with a guffaw, told Rooney:

"Take him. He's yours. And Austin can take the Rams' secrets to Pittsburgh too."

The Falcons led Northern Illinois all the way but it was a close fit, with Walt Piatkowski's 18 tallies helping boost the BG record to 5-9.

Foul Shooting Contest Set For Jr. High

A foul shooting contest, held each year in conjunction with the Pickaway County Junior High cage tournament, is slated to get under way 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at Walnut School.

Each school is permitted one contestant in the foul shooting event. Participants take five practice shots in preparation for the 25 attempts they get in competition.

In addition, the John McPherson Memorial Trophy will be awarded to the outstanding player of the tournament.

Games tomorrow afternoon are between Pickaway and Washington at 1:30 p. m. and Slatcreek and Walnut at 2:45 p. m.

The evening session pits Jackson and Scioto at 7 p. m. and Ashville and Monroe at 8:15 p. m.

3 Conferences Are Paced by Surprise 5s

Michigan State, Nebraska, Tulsa Take Loop Leads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan State, Nebraska and Tulsa are the surprise teams in college basketball at the halfway mark of the season.

Unbeaten Kentucky, with a 12-game winning streak that has elevated the Wildcats into the No. 2 spot behind top-ranked Duke in The Associated Press poll, has been a surprise, too, but at least the Wildcats received a few votes in the pre-season AP poll.

Michigan State, Nebraska and Tulsa didn't get a single vote in the pre-season poll, yet today the Spartans, Cornhuskers and Turricanes are in first place in three of the toughest conferences.

The Spartans share the top rung in the Big Ten with Michigan, but the Huskers are undisputed leaders in the Big Eight and the Hurricanes are all alone at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Michigan State, under its new coach, John Benington, has compiled the biggest form reversal.

The Spartans finished last in the Big Ten a year ago with a dismal 1-13 mark and 5-18 overall. Today they are 3-0 in league play and 10-3 over-all, paced by Stan Washington and John Bailey, a sophomore. If State's two victories over service teams in the holiday Rainbow Classic at Honolulu are included the Spartans' record is 12-3, but under NCAA rules these games are considered exhibitions.

Nebraska hasn't had a winning season in 15 years, but this year the Huskers are 4-1 in the Big Eight and 12-2 over-all. The play of two sophs, Tom Baack and Stuart Lantz, is making coach Joe Cipriano happy.

Another soph, Eldridge Webb, has led Tulsa into title contention after 10 years of struggling in the valley's second division. Coach Joe Swank's boys are 3-0 in league play and 13-4 over-all.

Tulsa doesn't play again until Jan. 29, but on Saturday Michigan State is at Iowa and Nebraska is host to Oklahoma.

Only two major games were played Thursday night as mid-year exams called a virtual halt to competition. Virginia Tech boosted its record to 12-2 by defeating East Carolina 83-64 and Bowling Green edged Northern

Palmer, Casper, Lema Making Bids in Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and Billy Casper made their bid for the second-round lead in the $104,500 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament today playing the course which produced the low scores for the first 18 holes.

All three were in position to move in front as they toured the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course where Al Geiberger shot a 68 on Thursday to grab the lead.

Four others had 69s but moved today to rugged Pebble Beach.

Palmer and Lema fashioned two-under-par 70s over the Cypress Point course, generally figured a couple of strokes tougher than Monterey Peninsula, and Casper had a 71. Palmer and Casper already are winners this year — Arnie at Los Angeles and Casper in his home town of San Diego.

In runner-up spots going into the second round were Californians Ken Towns of San Jose, Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs and Lee Raymond of Redwood City plus Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City.

Geiberger isn't awed by Pebble Beach. In 1964, when he finished fourth in the Crosby, he shot a 73 on a windy, final day after opening the tournament with an 80. He followed with a 68 and 67.

Walker Cup amateur Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., playing with a handicap of five strokes, helped his pro partner Gay Brewer by 14 as they carded a best-ball 60 to lead the pro-amateur division. Brewer shot a 74, but on the five holes where he had handicap strokes, Morey recorded a natural birdie and four pars which went down on the score card as an eagle and four birds because of the handicap strokes.

Among five teams tied for second at 62 were Al Besselin and Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale. Left-hander Sandy Koufax of the world baseball champions helped his partner, Ken Still, with eight strokes for a 63.

Brilliant sunshine greeted the Crosby and brought out a gallery of 25,000, largest ever for an opening day.

Jack Nicklaus, despite going over par on two of the final three holes, hit a 73 at Cypress Point in his first competitive outing of this year.

Bill Ogden had mixed emotions. He sank a hole-in-one on the 155-yard third hole at Monterey and seemed headed for a great score until the final three holes. On those the veteran par from Tucson, Ariz., lost four strokes to par and finished at 72.

Williams Calls Baseball Most Rigorous of Sports

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, the 103rd member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, claims that the game requires more practice and concentration than any other sport.

Williams, a noted fisherman and a part-time golfer in recent years, emphasized the rigors on the road to baseball stardom Thursday after his landslide election to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

"Baseball takes more hours of practice and concentration than any other sport," the former Boston Red Sox slugger said. "No other sport requires as much practice. There are no short cuts in baseball."

Williams believes his natural ability "has been overrated and overreversed."

"Baseball is a lot more than natural ability," he said. "I had baseball sense, but you need guidance to know what to do and how to develop your ability. And you've got to work. Stan Musial understood the meaning of practice and he developed himself into a great hitter."

Williams, who retired in 1960 with a .344 lifetime average and 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Red Sox, polled a record 282 votes, or 93.8 per cent of the total, in balloting by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Williams was ignored on only 20 ballots despite his feud with many sports writers. It was a runaway in his first year of eligibility for the Hall of Fame.

Red Ruffing, who won 273 games in 22 years with the Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox, suffered a second straight disappointment. Runner-up to Luke Appling in a runoff election in 1964, Ruffing received 208 votes, 18 shy of the 75 per cent required for election.

Roy Campanella was third Illinois 74-72. Both were home-court victories.

with 197 votes, followed by Joe Medwick 187, Lou Boudreau 115, Al Lopez 109 and Enos Slaughter 100.

Williams said he was sorry that many others, especially Ruffing, had failed to win election.

"I wish some of you writers could have hit against Ruffing," he said.

Williams, in good humor but as outspoken at the age of 47 as he was in his younger days, also pleaded that rules by left alone to give hitters a break.

"Anytime you take away anything from the hitters you are taking away from the game," he said.

Williams, who will be inducted into the Hall of Fame July 25, is looking forward to his position as vice president of the Red Sox. His appointment was announced Thursday.

Clay Admits He 'Carried' Floyd in Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay admits now that he carried Floyd Patterson in their title fight last Nov. 22 at Las Vegas, Nev.

Previously, the heavyweight champion had denied he permitted Patterson to continue in their one-sided, cat-and-mouse affair which the referee finally halted in the 12th round.

Clay, also known as Muhammad Ali, made the admission in answering a question by sportscaster Howard Cosell while they were watching the fight film and recording a tape commentary. The film and commentary will be aired by the American Broadcasting Co. on the Wide World of Sports television program Saturday, Jan. 29.

Junior High Romps to 44-27 Win

Every member of the Circleville Junior High basketball team broke into the scoring column Thursday as the locals defeated visiting Washington Twp. 44-27.

Junior High coach Don Dawson started a team composed mostly of seventh graders who have not seen much action this year. Although they led most of the game, they were behind, 13-12 at halftime.

Beginning the second half, he put his starting five in the tilt. During a four minute span, they outscored the hosts, 25-4, and Dawson took them out of the game.

Tuesday, the junior high travels to Lancaster Ewing.

Detroit Keeps Pin Tourney Lead

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bob Strampe of Detroit retained his lead in the 25th annual National All-Star Bowling Tournament Thursday but his margin was cut to 48 pins by young Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis.

Burton hammered out a 1,096 score to take over second place.

The St. Louis bowler fired games of 189, 172, 248, 241, 246 as the field of 432 men completed two-thirds of the 15-game preliminary.

After today's third round, the 216 men who survive the first cut will roll another 15 games, with 72 advancing to the semifinals.

ORDINANCE NO. 5-66
ORDINANCE FIXING THE NUMBER, SALARIES AND BONDS OF MEMBERS OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That the Fire Department of the City of Circleville, Ohio, shall be composed of the following officers and other members who shall receive the respective salaries hereinafter provided payable semi-monthly, out of the Fire Fund of the city, and as provided by legislation previously passed by council, the Fire Chief and each officer and other members of the Fire Department required by law to be bonded, shall be covered by the blanket bond purchased by the city, to cover employees of the city required to be bonded by the laws of the State of Ohio and the ordinances of the City of Circleville.

1. A Fire Chief
2. Three (3) Lieutenants
3. Six (6) Firemen

SECTION 2. That the salary of the Fire Chief of the City of Circleville, Ohio, from and after the effective date of this ordinance shall be the sum of $5304.00 per annum.

SECTION 3. That the salary of Lieutenants shall be as follows: During ninety (90) day probationary period of ninety days a Lieutenant shall receive $4488.00 per annum; after the completion of two (2) years as a Lieutenant, a Lieutenant shall receive $4620.00 per annum. After the completion of three (3) years as a Lieutenant, a Lieutenant shall receive $4680.00 per annum.

SECTION 4. That the salaries of firemen shall be as follows: The salary of a fireman immediately upon his entering the force shall be $4128.00 per annum. After the completion of one (1) year service a fireman shall receive $4248.00 per annum. After completing two (2) years of service a fireman shall receive $4368.00 per annum. After completing three (3) years of service a fireman shall receive $4488.00 per annum.

SECTION 5. That the rate of pay per hour for all firemen below the rank of Chief for hours worked in excess of fifty (50) hours per week shall be as follows:

To start	$1.70
After 2 years	$1.74
After 3 years	$1.78
To start	$1.55
After 1 year	$1.60
After 3 years	$1.70

SECTION 6. That ordinance No. 5-66 passed by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, on January 4, 1966, providing for an increase in salaries for members of the Fire Department of the City of Circleville is hereby repealed.

SECTION 7. That the Fire Department shall be classified by the Director of Public Safety as required by law.

SECTION 8. That this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency ordinance necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of said city and for the further reason that a salary increase for the firemen is necessary to adequately maintain an efficient fire department for the protection of the health and properties of the residents of the City of Circleville, Ohio; therefore, this ordinance shall be in force and effect from and immediately after its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Passed January 18, 1966.

ALBA L. WHITESIDE

Lawyer Seeks Senatorial Nomination

Alba L. Whiteside, formerly of Ross County and now an attorney in Columbus, announced today that he will seek the Republican nomination for State Senator from the Seventeenth District in the May primary election.

The Senatorial District includes the counties of Pickaway, Fairfield, Hocking, Ross and Vinton and the southeastern portion of Franklin County.

Whiteside was born in Madison County and formerly lived in Chillicothe. He was graduated from Chillicothe High School and was at one time employed on the news staff of a Chillicothe paper.

He holds a BA degree from the Ohio State University and a law degree from OSU's College of Law.

The attorney is a member of the Bexley Methodist Church and serves on its official board. He is married to the former Virginia Ayres, sister of Congressman William Ayres of Akron. They have one daughter.

Whiteside is a member of the Franklin County GOP Central and Executive Committees and was delegate to the 1964 GOP Convention. He holds several civic positions and is a member of county and state bar groups.

U.S. GIs Quietly Patrol Troubled Dominican Area

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — He's been spat upon. People have thrown garbage at him. Rocks have bounced off his heavy military helmet.

And this is the first time in his 24 years of life he hasn't seen snow at this time of the year.

It's been a warm winter for Sgt. Spring.

Sgt. William Spring of the U.S. 82nd Airborne, a native of Philadelphia, is typical of the American GIs who patrol the sometimes quiet, sometimes turbulent streets of Santo Domingo.

A U.S. army career man who has a son he's seen only once since beginning duty in the Dominican Republic last May, Spring commands a squad of five other airborne infantrymen and two jeeps, part of the Inter-American Peace Force.

Their duty is to patrol the streets in an area known as Ciudad Nueva but more commonly referred to as the old "rebel area."

Headquarters and billets are almost squarely in the center of this area — on Avenue Mella — one of the hot spots of sniper fire during last year's short revolution.

Each of Spring's two jeeps carries three men each and an M60 machine gun, plus shotguns loaded with birdshot, and a bazooka. Each soldier carries his own personal arms. Spring rides the right-hand seat of the lead jeep with a shotgun across his lap, constantly on the alert for any sign of trouble.

The men average 100 miles a day in patrols. A ride through the area takes almost two hours. Then Spring orders a rest break. Then more patrol.

Throwing of rocks and garbage has grown less frequent but many Dominicans hurl verbal insults at the olive-clad men in jeeps. "We don't feel the day is complete," Spring jokes, "if we don't collect a few 'Yankee go home'."

As Spring's jeeps move through traffic, the men swivel their heads, checking first the street in their immediate area, then up at the two-and three-story buildings, packed close together at the sidewalk's edge. At any sign of trouble or street disturbance it is their duty to make a report and investigate — and when so ordered, take action.

Quietly, the tall, lean veteran of more than 70 parachute jumps recalls being under fire in this island soon after the revolution broke out, when the sniper fire "was hot and heavy."

Spring feels a sympathy toward the Dominican people.

"The average Dominican I know is usually quiet and cooperative, unless he is prodded along by someone. He won't go out of his way to interfere with us. But let some rabble-rouser organize a mob, and this same man, egged on, will join in and throw stones at you," Spring says.

"A lot of Dominicans, too, would like to be friendly with American troops, but are afraid because of threats from certain elements of the population."

Days off are few for Spring and his men. Their chief source of relaxation is swimming at Red Beach and stretching out under the Caribbean sun.

Spring takes his orders from Lt. William Jones of Littlefield, Tex., his platoon commander. Jones terms his squad leader "a good professional soldier."

Spring looks forward to July when his tour of duty will end and he'll return to his wife, Violet, and son, Wayne, at the 82nd's home base — Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Maybe next winter he'll see snow again.

$300 Million Take Is Seen for Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gov. Grant Sawyer says Nevada Gaming Commission preliminary reports indicate gross gambling revenue in 1965 went over the $300 million mark for the first time.

He said in a speech that taxes and fees paid to the state rose from $14.9 million to $15.7 million during the same period.

JOHN E. MYERS

Eagle Rank Bestowed on John Myers

John E. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, Route 4, was awarded the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies this week at the First Methodist Church.

The honor, which is the high point of scouting achievement, was bestowed before approximately 125 scouts and their parents. Myers is a member of Troop 52 of the Methodist Church.

The presentation was made by Dan Crabtree, former scoutmaster of the troop. John Court, district advancement chairman, administered the Eagle pledge to young Myers.

The new Eagle Scout became active in scouting in 1963 and has progressed steadily since that time. He has held such key posts as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader. He currently is serving as senior patrol leader of his unit.

TO MEET the qualifications for Eagle Scout, Myers earned merit badges in personal fitness, lifesaving, safety, citizenship, first aid, camping, cooking, painting, geology, pets, pioneering, home repair, coin collecting, music and stamp collecting.

The new Eagle Scout also is a member of the Order of the Arrow, scouts' camping honorary group. Prior to the eagle rites, a second scout award was conferred on Jeff Linn, while Gregory Roll received first class honors. Tenderfoot investiture services also were included in the evenings program and the following boys are formally accepted into scouting: Richard Hodge, Larry Mayo, John Payne, Steven Davis, Douglas Scangler, Dennis Mills, Paul Jacobs, Bruce Adams, Bennett Seum, Kevin Carter, Dave Conley, Burton Keener and

Jacqueline Haines, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines, 444 Clinton St., lacerated her left hand on a car door. Jerald Rutter, 24, Route 2, caught a finger of his right hand in machinery while working at the Owens-Illinois Plant.

Duane Howard. George Myers, former assistant scoutmaster who has succeeded Crabtree as troop leader, was in charge of the program. He was assisted by Donald Conkel, newly appointed assistant scoutmaster.

State Liquor Unit Files 19 Charges Here

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control brought citation charges to an all-time high in the state during 1965, according to a year-end report issued today.

In Pickaway County there were 19 charges filed and 10 citations issued by the department against Pickaway County permit holders.

At the top of the list were charges filed against permit holders for violating laws involving minors.

Here is the record of charges filed in 1965 by agents of the department's enforcement division and the Circleville Police Department.

FOUR sales to minors; two furnishing intoxicating liquors to minors; two after hour consumption; two gambling (one bowling machine and one raffle); two sales to non-members of private clubs; one of a minor consuming liquor on permit premises;

One failure to post minor warning signs; one hindering inspection; one improper conduct; one of not operating as a restaurant as required by the permit; one after hour sales; one insanitary conditions (no hot or cold water or soap in men's restroom and dirty kitchen and bar area).

Liquor agents were also involved in one raid in Pickaway County last year. As a result, one person was arrested and convicted. He was fined $200 and had the liquor permit suspended for 30 days for a charge of illegal sales.

Youngster Burned On Furnace Register

Charlena S. Campbell, 2½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Campbell, 100 Highland Ave., received emergency care in Berger Hospital yesterday after she fell on a register and burned her abdomen and left thigh. Three persons were treated and released.

Jacqueline Haines, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines, 444 Clinton St., lacerated her left hand on a car door. Jerald Rutter, 24, Route 2, caught a finger of his right hand in machinery while working at the Owens-Illinois Plant.

Duane Howard. George Myers, former assistant scoutmaster who has succeeded Crabtree as troop leader, was in charge of the program. He was assisted by Donald Conkel, newly appointed assistant scoutmaster.

Fund Raising Events Set By Westfall Booster Club

The Westfall Booster Club mapped plans for fund raising functions during its general membership meeting held at the high school.

The organization will prepare the dinner for the Future Farmers of America Parent-son banquet to be held Mar. 17. On Feb. 3, the members will have the concessions for an implement sale.

Harry Morris, Thomas Boyer, and Donald Streitenberger were appointed to inspect and prepare a bid for an additional booth for concessions. Mrs. George Neff, Mrs. George Hamman, Mrs. Troy McPherson, Mrs. Norwin O'Connor, Mrs. Harry Morris, and Mrs. Milton Renick were appointed to initiate plans for a smorgasbord dinner to be held soon.

Names will be drawn to repay $100 in bonds sold earlier by the booster group. Said persons will be notified and paid within 60 days.

The following were appointed to serve as chairmen of the concessions for the remaining basketball games: Feb. 5, Darby Township, Earl Liff, Chairman; Feb. 18 — Perry Township, Delbert Remy, Chairman; Feb. 19, Board of Directors.

The next general membership meeting will be held Mar. 16 at 8 p.m.

Prior to the meeting several musical selections were presented by the Westfall High School band under the direction of Douglas Garrett. Edwin Baughan, president, directed the business meeting.

Little Change Is Seen for Space Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — In spite of the heavy budget pressure of the Viet Nam war, the chairman of the House Space Committee expects the administration's space budget to be "in the same ballpark" as last year's.

Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., said in an interview Thursday night, "I expect it to be modestly below last year's request."

Last year Miller's committee authorized a $5.18-billion budget for space exploration, slightly below what the administration requested, and $5.17 billion was actually appropriated for the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

But with the mounting expenses of the war in Viet Nam, there was some speculation that the space program might be in for a heavy cut in the new budget which President Johnson will send to Congress Monday.

Adding a bit of fuel to that fire was the fact that Johnson did not mention the space program — now the third largest expenditure (after defense and agriculture) of the government — once in his State of the Union message.

However, Miller said then that he didn't think the omission had any significance and "might even be a good omen." Johnson did not mention space in last year's message either.
